Legality Of City Candidates Questioned

Conferees Okay Billion Dollar Spending Plan

Farm Compromise Report Expected Late Next Week

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee late today gave tentative approval to nearly a billion dollars worth of election year farm spending.

The conferees stamped their approval on 450 million dollars in benefits under the long-range section of the soil bank plan and another 500 million to step up special purchase operations on pork and other perishable commodities outside regular price support operations. Both proposals originated in the Senate.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the group trying to complete a compromise on the controversial omnibus farm bill, announced these decisions as the legislators concluded their second closed-door session of the day.

Reversing earlier plans, he said they would meet again tonight and also tomorrow morning in an effort to iron out numerous other sections still in dispute.

"We have agreed not to take a final vote on the conference report until next Friday night," Ellender reported.

Rep. Cooley (D-N.C.), head of the five House conferees, said one new feature was nailed into the farm bill this afternoon "that should have appeal to city folks and consumers."

This was a directive to Secretary of Agriculture Benson to inform Congress within 30 days of some system for free distribution of surplus food to needy persons (Continued On Eighth Page)

Two Desperadoes Captured; Bonds Put At $100,000

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 30 (AP)—A swarm of FBI agents fired three bursts of tear gas into a motel room today and heavily armed Nick Montos, the only man to twice make the FBI's "10 most wanted" list, surrendered without firing a shot.

The 38-year-old Montos and pal, Robert Lloyd Jones, 30, meekly gave themselves up along with a small arsenal of weapons, including a sub-machinegun.

Jones, convicted murderer, and Montos escaped from the Mississippi state penitentiary last Jan. 10. The FBI called Montos one of the country's top burglars and safe crackers. He was placed on the "most wanted" list in 1952, and again after his escape.

The bloodless capture followed a tip that the badly wanted fugitive had registered at the motel late yesterday.

Moving quietly, FBI agents cleared occupants from nearby rooms, then took positions outside the motel and in a room across from that of the escaped convicts.

Trotsky's Killer Charges Attempt On Life At Prison

MEXICO CITY, March 30—UP—Jacques Mornard, who killed Communist leader Leon Trotsky in 1940, is under special guard at the Mexico City penitentiary because of an alleged attempt on his life, it was disclosed Friday.

Prison officials said Mornard's claim was a "farce" to bolster his campaign for parole but that a special guard was ordered anyway because "we can't take any chances."

A report in the newspaper Opciones said that "the red hand of criminal communism" had gone into the prison to try to kill Mornard just as his bid for freedom approached a climax in court.

Mornard claimed two men attacked him in a lonely prison corridor three nights ago but that he fought himself free. He did not identify the assailants.

France Begins Delivery Of Jet Planes To Israel With Approval Of U. S.

PARIS, March 30 (AP)—France has begun delivery of 12 Mystere jet interceptor planes to Israel with tacit U. S. consent, reliable sources said today. There was no official confirmation or denial.

Unofficial sources reported some of the jets already had passed through Rome.

France, Britain and the United States have been hoping to head off an armament race in the explosive Middle East by trying to cut off all arms shipments.

Egypt has got Iron Curtain arms from Czechoslovakia and Russia since last summer and upset a balance the West had hoped to maintain.

France contracted to supply the Mysteres, the standard French air force fighter plane, before the Western agreement.

Deliveries had been delayed while France sought to work out a common policy with Britain and the United States on such shipments in the light of the Red arms shipments to Egypt.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau once indicated that if the three powers could agree on an ironclad embargo to the Middle East, France might hold off delivery of the jets.

He said, however, that if there was no allied backing on the subject, France would honor the contract on its own responsibility.

A series of three-power meetings in Washington failed to produce any clear-cut stand.

Israel bought 10 Mysteres last year and has some British fighters. Experts estimate the entire Israeli intercept force at fewer than 40 planes.

The Egyptians are reported to be receiving 200 Russian MIG-15 fighters and 60 Russian Ilyushin twin-jet bombers.

The United States still has pending an Israeli request for 65 million dollars worth of arms.

Thousands made solemn pilgrimage to St. Peter's this Good Friday for services commemorating Christ's death on the cross.

Tenebrae services were held this morning.

Pope Pius XII, 80-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church, appeared at his apartment window at noon to bless pilgrims. Romans and tourists gathered in St. Peter's Square.

Later, as the hour approached of Christ's death on Calvary, thousands made their way to vesper services.

Franklin Has 3 Such Cases In Past Year

Clyde Walters, Jr. Killed Yesterday; Death Is Accident

WINNSBORO, March 30 (Special)—A 14-year-old Gilbert youth who accidentally shot himself with a .22 caliber rifle today near here on his father's Dean Lake farm, became the third person to die of similar hunting accidents in that vicinity during a year's time.

The youth was identified by Franklin Parish coroner, Dr. Henry E. Jones as Clyde Walters, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walters, Sr., of Gilbert.

Walters' death came when his .22 rifle discharged while he was probing a log pile with the butt end of the weapon.

The bullet, the coroner stated, went through the boy's heart but didn't kill him instantly.

The coroner reported that the youth ran about 30 feet from the log heap and fell dead. His father, and an uncle working nearby, were the first to reach the youth after the younger Walters screamed out and called for "Daddy," according to Dr. Jones.

Walters was surmised to be probing the log pile in quest for rabbits or rats. The youth was with a party of new ground clearers about seven miles east of Gilbert on his father's Dean Lake farm.

Dr. Jones said when the youth began punching the log pile the rifle's plunger struck the easily dischargeable rim fire cartridge. The incident was ruled as "accidental" by the coroner. The rifle remained protruding from the brush after it was discharged, he said.

Dr. Jones pointed out that this was the third "similar" type accident in the general vicinity of Dean Lake during a year's time. All were fatal he added.

Walters was a student at Gilbert High school, investigating deputies from the Franklin Parish Sheriff's Department were J. D. Busby and Ellis Tarver.

Funeral services for the youth will be held Saturday at 3:30 p.m. at the Eureka Baptist Church with Rev. Ira Patterson officiating.

Interment will follow under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home of Winnsboro.

Walters survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walters, Sr.; Gilbert; one brother, Richard Lee Walters; three sisters, Katherine, Linda Lou and Beverly, all of Gilbert.

Nation's Farmers Gain Slightly In Financial Battle

WASHINGTON, March 30—UP—The nation's farmers showed a slight gain in their financial position from mid-February to mid-March for the second month in a row, it was disclosed Friday.

The Agriculture Department reported that the prices farmers received for their crops and livestock rose 2 per cent in the month ended March 15.

This increase was only partly offset by a rise of two-thirds of 1 per cent during the month in farmers' cost of production and living expenses.

The department said farmers' actual return in mid-March averaged 82 per cent of parity, compared with 81 per cent in mid-February and 86 per cent in mid-March, 1955. The mid-February level represented a slight gain over the 80 per cent of mid-January.

The department said prices for most crops increased from mid-February to mid-March, with the largest increases being recorded for tomatoes, potatoes and cotton.

Livestock prices also were on the rise, with price boosts recorded for beef cattle, hogs and chickens. Prices dropped slightly for milk, eggs and calves.

East Germany Admits Making False Arrests

Relaxation Of Police Methods Ordered By Chief

BERLIN, March 30 (AP)—Ernst Wollweber, head of the East German secret police, admitted publicly today that some false arrests had occurred in the Communist state. He ordered an easing of police methods.

"Certain measures which were formerly necessary are no longer needed in the same degree," he declared.

Wollweber, speaking at the closing of the East German Communist party's third conference, confessed to "errors" in law enforcement. But, he asserted, the number of unjustified arrests was "trifling". He claimed no one was jailed because of an opposing political opinion.

Wollweber said that methods of the border and railway police in particular "must be re-examined to avoid mistakes."

He blamed some of the mistakes on young men in the state security service who lacked "sufficient experience."

The final session revealed that East Germany will spend 3½ billion marks—$1,600,000,000—at the official rate—during the next five years on its newly created "national people's army."

Passenger Fare Boost Planned By South's Railroads

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)—The Southern railroads were reported today to have decided to join the East and West lines in boosting basic passenger fares by 5 per cent.

The Southern lines have made no public statement on the recent notices posted by Eastern and Western carriers on the proposed increase, effective May 1.

However, railroad and government circles here today heard that the Southern roads would join in with a similar increase, probably to be made effective May 15.

These sources reported that the major passenger-carrying lines in the South will meet in Atlanta, Ga., on Tuesday to work out the details.

The procedures being followed in the current proposed increase involve the 30-day public notice formula. Under this, the revisions are subject to protest and possible blocking action by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

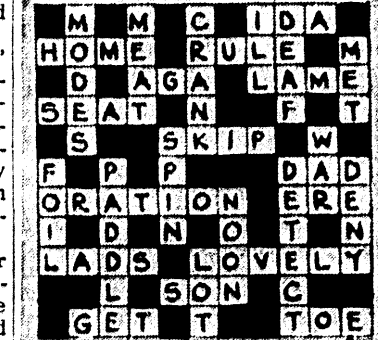

The basic passenger fares in the South are 3.85 cents per mile first class and 2.75 in coaches. The basic Eastern fares are 4½ and 3.35 in the West 3½ and 2½ cents.

The ICC today set April 19 as the deadline for the filing of written protests against the proposed East-West fare increases. Replies to such protests must be submitted by April 24. The commission said a public hearing will be held here April 25 to permit questioning about the written statements.

Rebel 'Liberation Army' In Algeria Threatens To Invade Southern France

ALGIERS, Algeria, March 30—UP—The underground Algerian "liberation army" boasted Friday it will conquer half of France after driving the French out of Algeria.

Propaganda leaflets distributed by the "supreme command" of the outlawed national Moslem army claimed that Arab soldiers are ready to invade France just as Moslem invaders did 12 centuries ago.

They said Islam rule would be established over the southern part of France including Marseille, Toulon, Bordeaux, St. Etienne and Lyons—"the land of our ancestors."

The rebels also said they were ready to re-take Algiers in central France, where their ancestors were defeated in 732 by Charles Martel in a battle that saved France from Arab domination.

The Nationalists lost 103 men Thursday in one of the bloodiest days of the 16-month rebellion. Twenty loyal Algerians were slain by the insurgents.

Affidavit Of Loyalty Filed Only By Two

Coon, Huckaby Submit Oaths On Advice Of Lawyer

Monroe's political front was clouded last night by an announcement that possibly only two candidates may be properly entered as candidates in the city Democratic primary May 22.

Roy Q. Cole, Chairman of the City Democratic Executive Committee, said last night that only Mayor John E. Coon and Streets and Parks Commissioner Wayne H. Huckaby had filed loyalty affidavits before the qualifying deadline Thursday at 5 p. m.

Commissioner Huckaby, contacted last night, said he was advised by his lawyer Wednesday to file a loyalty affidavit. "After I was advised by him I made a prompt effort to comply," Huckaby said.

Mayor Coon could not be reached for comment.

Cole said he did not know the status of the situation and that the committee would have to rule on it.

"If they were supposed to have filed an affidavit of loyalty it was their fault that they didn't do so," Cole said.

W. L. (Jack) Howard, an announced candidate for mayor, said when contacted last night "That's the first I've heard about it." Howard said he was of the opinion that "I am still a candidate."

E. H. Miller, an announced candidate for commissioner of finance and utilities, said he didn't file an affidavit and did not know one was required.

None of the other candidates could be reached.

Cole said that the effect of the Coon and Huckaby affidavits may be questionable in view of the fact they filed the affidavits after filing as candidates earlier with the City Democratic Committee.

Senate Probes Receive Leads In Lobbying Inquiry

WASHINGTON, March 30—UP—Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said Friday that two senators have suggested "interesting" leads for possible investigation by his special Senate lobbying committee.

He said the leads were supplied in reply to a committee letter seeking information from all senators. "Between 35 and 40" senators already have replied to the request, he said. McClellan did not name the two who suggested possible lines of inquiry.

The Arkansas Democrat, who also heads the special Senate investigating subcommittee, emphasized that the information contained in the two letters did not appear to be "outstanding." But he said he believes the lobby committee will be "interested."

McClellan made the statement as the eight-member group settled down in earnest for its widely heralded inquiry with George Morris Fay, former U.S. attorney here, as its chief counsel. Fay, a Democrat, has been in private law practice in Washington.

The committee was set up to investigate any illegal or improper attempts to influence members of Congress or the executive branch. It has set no time-table for the (Continued On Fifth Page)

Bi-Racial Study Of Segregation In Mississippi Urged

JACKSON, Miss., March 30 (AP)—A group of Mississippi Negro leaders plan to ask Gov. J. P. Coleman to appoint a bi-racial committee to study tense race relations in the state.

The leaders will meet here April 27 to draft a resolution asking the governor to set up the bi-racial committee.

"To explore the tense race relations field in Mississippi and see what can be worked out to restore harmony between the races within the framework of the constitution of the United States."

Advised of the proposed action by the Negro leaders, Gov. Coleman commented:

"The governor will be willing to work in good faith with the members of any race sincerely interested in preserving peace and harmony in this state while at the same time maintaining separation of the races which is in the best interest of all."

The proposed meeting of leaders was announced in a statement by John C. Melchor, Clarksdale, executive vice president of the Regional Council of Negro Leadership.

The council will meet on the same day and will be asked to endorse the work of the 40 leaders who will meet in advance.

CHILD BELIEVED DEAD FOUND ALIVE; DAD CLEARED—Ex-convict Lloyd A. Dicus (left) was cleared of a charge that he murdered his three-year-old daughter, Shirley Dicus, after the little girl was found alive at Neosho, Mo. The body of a child found under a pile of rocks near Kansas City had been identified previously by five persons as that of Shirley. At right, Shirley is held in the arms of Police Chief Walter Montgomery after officers found her living with her father and a woman described by police as Dicus' fifth wife. (See story below). ## Rebel 'Liberation Army' In Algeria Threatens To Invade Southern France

ALGIERS, Algeria, March 30—UP—The underground Algerian "liberation army" boasted Friday it will conquer half of France after driving the French out of Algeria.

Propaganda leaflets distributed by the "supreme command" of the outlawed national Moslem army claimed that Arab soldiers are ready to invade France just as Moslem invaders did 12 centuries ago.

They said Islam rule would be established over the southern part of France including Marseille, Toulon, Bordeaux, St. Etienne and Lyons—"the land of our ancestors."

The rebels also said they were ready to re-take Poitiers in central France, where their ancestors were defeated in 732 by Charles Martel in a battle that saved France from Arab domination.

The Nationalists lost 103 men Thursday in one of the bloodiest days of the 16-month rebellion. Twenty loyal Algerians were slain by the insurgents.

Jes' Ramblin'

Two unusual sights observed yesterday. One was out about 2000 DeSard street, where a man was observed shoeing a white horse! Who would have thought of such a thing in this automobile age!

And a short time later the observer saw a college professor, a good sized man, attempting to ride his small daughter's bicycle. Has anyone else seen any more unusual sights?

Woman Involved In Murder Scare Held As Fugitive

BATON ROUGE, March 30 (AP)—Twenty-year-old Gretta June Cornish today told a tale of bad checks and possible bigamy.

She told officers she and Lloyd A. Dicus, her 31-year-old common law husband, left a trail of phony checks from Texas to California and back again to Oklahoma.

Dicus was freed yesterday of a Missouri murder charge, when he showed up with his three-year-old daughter, Shirley, alive and safe. Kansas City authorities now say they're not sure whether the body found last Saturday is a boy or girl.

But police here think Miss Cornish may have committed bigamy since she came to Baton Rouge last December.

"She admitted being married twice," said chief criminal deputy George LeBlanc, "but said she was informed by the first father-in-law the marriage had been annulled. There's no verification of that yet."

She was picked up yesterday by city police, ending a nationwide search for Miss Cornish and her (Continued On Fifth Page)

Bi-Racial Study Of Segregation In Mississippi Urged

JACKSON, Miss., March 30 (AP)—A group of Mississippi Negro leaders plan to ask Gov. J. P. Coleman to appoint a bi-racial committee to study tense race relations in the state.

The leaders will meet here April 27 to draft a resolution asking the governor to set up the bi-racial committee.

"To explore the tense race relations field in Mississippi and see what can be worked out to restore harmony between the races within the framework of the constitution of the United States."

Advised of the proposed action by the Negro leaders, Gov. Coleman commented:

"The governor will be willing to work in good faith with the members of any race sincerely interested in preserving peace and harmony in this state while at the same time maintaining separation of the races which is in the best interest of all."

The proposed meeting of leaders was announced in a statement by John C. Melchor, Clarksdale, executive vice president of the Regional Council of Negro Leadership.

The council will meet on the same day and will be asked to endorse the work of the 40 leaders who will meet in advance.

Affidavit Of Loyalty Filed Only By Two

Coon, Huckaby Submit Oaths On Advice Of Lawyer

Monroe's political front was clouded last night by an announcement that possibly only two candidates may be properly entered as candidates in the city Democratic primary May 22.

Roy Q. Cole, Chairman of the City Democratic Executive Committee, said last night that only Mayor John E. Coon and Streets and parks Commissioner Wayne H. Huckaby had filed loyalty affidavits before the qualifying deadline Thursday at 5 p. m.

Commissioner Huckaby, contacted last night, said he was advised by his lawyer Wednesday to file a loyalty affidavit. "After I was advised by him I made a prompt effort to comply," Huckaby said.

Mayor Coon could not be reached for comment.

Cole said he did not know the status of the situation and that the committee would have to rule on it.

"If they were supposed to have filed an affidavit of loyalty it was their fault that they didn't do so," Cole said.

W. L. (Jack) Howard, an announced candidate for mayor, said when contacted last night "That's the first I've heard about it." Howard said he was of the opinion that "I am still a candidate."

E. H. Miller, an announced candidate for commissioner of finance and utilities, said he didn't file an affidavit and did not know one was required.

None of the other candidates could be reached. Cole said that the effect of the Coon and Huckaby affidavits may be questionable in view of the fact they filed the affidavits after filing as candidates earlier with the City Democratic Committee.

Senate Probes Receive Leads In Lobbying Inquiry

WASHINGTON, March 30—UP—Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said Friday that two senators already have suggested "interesting" leads for possible investigation by his special Senate lobbying committee.

He said the leads were supplied in reply to a committee letter seeking information from all senators. "Between 35 and 40" senators already have replied to the request, he said. McClellan did not name the two who suggested possible lines of inquiry.

The Arkansas Democrat, who also heads the special Senate investigating subcommittee, emphasized that the information contained in the two letters did not appear to be "outstanding." But he said he believes the lobby committee will be "interested."

McClellan made the statement as the eight-member group settled down in earnest for its widely heralded inquiry with George Morris Fay, former U. S. attorney here, as its chief counsel. Fay, a Democrat, has been in private law practice in Washington.

The committee was set up to investigate any illegal or improper attempts to influence members of Congress or the executive branch. It has set no time-table for the (Continued On Fifth Page)

Oklahoma Slaying Brake Fluid May Have Played Role In Woman's Death

DALLAS, March 30—UP—Arson experts proved Friday that a single can of brake fluid could have caused a 500-degree difference in an automobile fire that almost consumed the body of a murdered Oklahoma coed.

Oklahoma Crime Bureau Agent Ivan Gates said tests made in Dallas Friday showed that one can of brake fluid poured inside a burning car increased the heat by 500 degrees.

Gates was in Dallas to attend a meeting of the Texas Arson Conference. Arson experts deliberately set afire two cars in a special demonstration.

At Alva, Okla., meanwhile, State Fire Marshall Ralph Duroy said he believes the fire death of the Northwestern State College student was the work of someone in that vicinity.

Duroy said he is positive the pretty coed's automobile was deliberately set afire by use of inflammables last March 13. Her badly charred body was lying in the front seat.

In the demonstration in Dallas, two different cars were burned. Wires were attached to one, a 1951 Chevrolet, which registered temperatures in all parts of the car while it was being burned.

This car was set afire from the inside with a half pint of gasoline, and at no time did the tem-

Queen To Send Representative To Monacan Wedding

MONTE CARLO, March 30—UP—Queen Elizabeth II will send one of Britain's top-ranking peers to represent her at the wedding of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III, a Monacan official announced Friday.

The official said the queen's representative would be the Marquess of Salisbury, lord president of the privy council who acted as swordbearer to the young monarch at her coronation.

Selection of Lord Salisbury will give the April 18-19 wedding an unexpected prestige boost from the British throne. The queen's representative is a conservative leader in the House of Lords and is widely considered to be the most powerful voice in the peerage on both royal and political affairs.

Temperature surpass 1,100 degrees Fahrenheit. Then, a can of brake fluid with the lid still on was thrown into the other car, a 1949 Chevrolet.

Within a short time, the temperature meter increased from 1,100 degrees to 1,700 degrees due to the influence of the brake fluid. The fire which consumed Mrs. Reynolds was believed to have reached 1,700 degrees.

"This demonstration served to show us that the can of brake fluid found inside the girl's car had considerable influence on raising the temperature of the fire," Gates said.

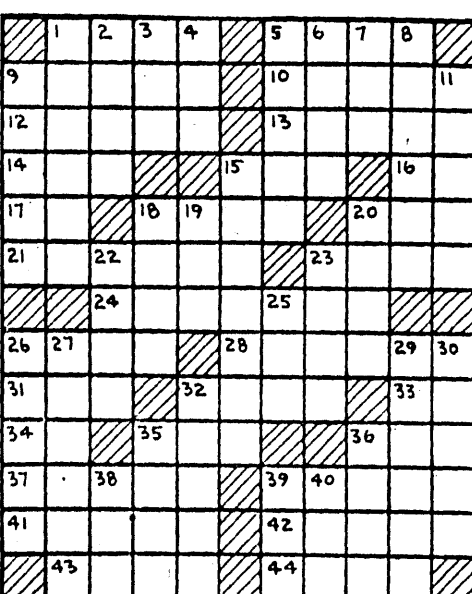

At Alva, Duroy said authorities "are pretty well convinced as to what took place. We are working a number of leads, and I don't feel like the trouble was too far away from home."

Duroy said his office has "some bits of evidence at this time that we can't reveal." He said he was "positive that it was not an accident."

Internal Revenue Agents Removing 'Worker' Records

NEW YORK, March 30 — UP—Internal Revenue agents Friday began removing records, including subscriber lists, from the office of the Daily Worker despite protests from the staff of Communist daily.

Harry Sacher, attorney for the Worker, branded the action an "illegal seizure" for the purpose of supplying the Federal Bureau of Investigation with a list of the newspaper's subscribers.

Sacher strenuously objected to the removal of the paper's records to Donald C. Moysey, district director of the Internal Revenue Service. Moysey replied that his department was removing the records for auditing purposes and that they would be returned Monday.

Earlier, John Gates, editor of the paper, said he saw federal tax men trying to remove subscriber lists from the newspaper's offices in wastebaskets.

Dr. F. J. Taylor On Commission

PINEVILLE, March 30 — (Special)—Gov. Robert F. Kennon has appointed Dr. F. J. Taylor, Louisiana College's history department chairman and dean of men, to the Louisiana Educational Television commission.

Notification of the appointment came last week from Wade O. Martin, Jr., secretary of state.

The commission's purpose is "to promote educational TV in Louisiana" and to "build up the non-commercial possibilities of this medium." Dr. Taylor will assist in formulating the policies relating to this work.

The commission met in Baton Rouge Monday, April 2, and witnessed a demonstration of mobile TV facilities.

The L. C. dean of men was also recently elected vice president of the Louisiana College conference an organization fostered by all 11 institutions of higher learning in the state.

He has been on the Louisiana college faculty since 1952. A native of Gibsland, Dr. Taylor holds a B. A. degree from the University of California, the M. A. from the Claremont (Calif.) Graduate school and the Ph. D. from Tulane University.

Bond Is Made By Downsville Man On U. S. Charge

Huey Leon Tedelon, 25, Downsville, charged with illegally receiving veterans readjustment assistance, Friday was released from the parish jail under a $1,000 bond, Haynes Harkey, U. S. Commissioner said.

Bond was set by Harkey at a hearing Thursday.

Tedelon allegedly drew veterans compensation while receiving an income from another source, he said.

Mrs. Chrestene Martha Roach Davis, 20, of Pioneer, indicted February 8, before the federal grand jury in Shreveport, for forging the endorsement of a soldier's allotment check, has been released under a $1,000 bond.

Her bond was set Thursday. Mrs. Davis allegedly posed as the wife of a soldier, received an allotment that should have gone to his legal wife, forged the endorsement and cashed the check, Harkey said.

Vocational Day Planned At NSC

NATCHITOCHES, March 30 — (Special)—Northwestern State College will be host April 6 to more than 1,000 high school seniors from 29 parishes in north Louisiana for "Vocational Opportunities Day."

Chairman of the committee making arrangements for the influx of visitors is Dr. Leo T. Allbritton, dean of the Northwestern graduate school. Various careers in college study will be described to the visiting youths on that day, with emphasis being placed on subject matter areas in morning sessions and specific vocational interests in afternoon meetings.

A full-day program is planned for the high schoolers. Assemblies are scheduled for both the morning and the afternoon, with sectional meetings on occupations and professions being discussed on two occasions.

Students and faculty at the college will act as consultants in the various meetings concerning vocations, along with a number of off-campus persons who are qualified to speak on opportunities relating to their fields.

Among those from state agencies, industries and professions who will participate in the discussions will be John Makar, Natchitoches attorney; G. J. Miller, medical technologist from the Confederate Memorial Hospital in Shreveport; Norman Fletcher, manager of the Natchitoches radio station.

J. E. Stewart, manager of the Natchitoches parish welfare office; Mrs. Lois Salter, home economics teacher at Zwolle high school; Coleman Martin, Natchitoches parish agricultural agent; Dr. J. A. Thomas, Natchitoches physician; Roy Gentry, director of Farmers Home Administration in Natchitoches; Mrs. Katie Faraldo, Grant Parish home demonstration agent; Mrs. Leonora O'Neal, home service director of the Gulf States Utilities Company in Beaumont, Tex.; and Ed Greco, chemist with United Gas Company in Shreveport.

Reds In Britain Open Convention

LONDON, March 30—UP—British Communists opened their annual convention Friday without so much as a side-long glance at Moscow's new anti-Stalin line.

Party members played it safe by concentrating on self-criticism of their own failure to exploit the gospel of communism throughout Britain.

In speeches from the floor, rank and file members of the party roundly criticized the leadership for "complacency." But neither they nor Secretary Harry Pollitt, in his keynote speech, mentioned Moscow party leader Nikita Khrushchev's speech which knocked down the Josef Stalin myth at last month's Soviet party conference.

Bond Is Made By Downsville Man On U. S. Charge

Huey Leon Tedeton, 25, Downsville, charged with illegally receiving veterans re-adjustment assistance, Friday was released from the parish jail under a $1,000 bond, Haynes Harkey, U. S. Commissioner said.

Bond was set by Harkey at a hearing Thursday.

Tedeton allegedly drew veterans compensation while receiving an income from another source, he said.

Mrs. Chrestene Martha Roach Davis, 20, of Pioneer, indicted February 8, before the federal grand jury in Shreveport, for forging the endorsement of a soldier's allotment check, has been released under a $1,000 bond.

Her bond was set Thursday.

Mrs. Davis allegedly posed as the wife of a soldier, received an allotment that should have gone to his legal wife, forged the endorsement and cashed the check, Harkey said.

Vocational Day Planned At NSC

NATCHITOCHES, March 30—(Special)—Northwestern State College will be host April 6 to more than 1,000 high school seniors from 29 parishes in north Louisiana for "Vocational Opportunities Day."

Chairman of the committee making arrangements for the influx of visitors is Dr. Leo T. Allbritten, dean of the Northwestern graduate school. Various careers in college study will be described to the visiting youths on that day, with emphasis being placed on subject matter areas in morning sessions and specific vocational interests in afternoon meetings.

A full-day program is planned for the high schoolers. Assemblies are scheduled for both the morning and the afternoon, with sectional meetings on occupations and professions being discussed on two occasions.

Invitations have been sent to schools in the following parishes:

Avoyelles, Rapides, Vernon, Concordia, Catahoula, LaSalle, Grant, Natchitoches, Sabine, De Soto, Webster, Claiborne, Lincoln, Morehouse, Red River, Winn, Caldwell, Franklin, Tensas, Madison, Richland, Ouachita, Jackson, Bienville, DeSoto, Caddo, Bossier, West Carroll and East Carroll.

Students and faculty at the college will act as consultants in the various meetings concerning vocations, along with a number of off-campus persons who are qualified to speak on opportunities relating to their fields.

Among those from state agencies, industries and professions who will participate in the discussions will be John Makar, Natchitoches attorney; G. J. Miller, medical technologist from the Confederate Memorial Hospital in Shreveport; Norman Fletcher, manager of the Natchitoches radio station.

J. E. Stewart, manager of the Natchitoches parish welfare office; Mrs. Lois Salter, home economics teacher at Zwolle high school; Coleman Martin, Natchitoches parish agricultural agent; Dr. J. A. Thomas, Natchitoches physician; Roy Gentry, director of Farmers Home Administration in Natchitoches; Mrs. Katie Faraldo, Grant parish home demonstration agent; Mrs. Leonora O'Neal, home service director of the Gulf States Utilities Company in Beaumont, Tex.; and Ed Greco, chemist with United Gas Company in Shreveport.

Reds In Britain Open Convention

LONDON, March 30—UP—British Communists opened their annual convention Friday without so much as a side-long glance at Moscow's new anti-Stalin line.

Party members played it safe by concentrating on self-criticism of their own failure to exploit the gospel of communism throughout Britain.

In speeches from the floor, rank and file members of the party roundly criticized the leadership for "complacency." But neither for Secretary Harry Pollitt, in his keynote speech, mentioned Moscow party leader Nikita Khrushchev's speech which knocked down the Josef Stalin myth at last month's Soviet party conference.

How Youth Learns To Pray

By Charles Shedd

Minister, First Presbyterian Church, Ponca City, Oklahoma

A traveling salesman was coming into Ponca City one day last year, early in the morning. At exactly 8 a.m., he passed our church. He was so startled by what he saw, he wrote me this letter:

"Dear Pastor: Yesterday I passed your church just as the doors opened and out poured a bunch of fine looking young people. I puzzled to myself, 'Have these kids been up all night? Did they have an early morning breakfast? Was there trouble?'"

"When I stopped for breakfast at the restaurant down the block, I inquired of the manager about the kids. When he told me they had been at prayer and that they did that twice a week, I said to myself, 'Never again will I say the world is going to the dogs....'"

I, too, am amazed by our youngsters in Ponca City. They have organized their own church, which is called the Westminster Youth Church. And although these hundred kids use the adults' church building, they elect their own deacons, elders, and trustees. They handle their own funds, which runs into thousands of dollars. They have their own vespers services every Sunday at 5 p.m. Once a year they conduct the worship service for the entire church.

They have pledged $4,000 towards our new building fund; they've raised $3,000 for supplies for their Sunday School; they've sent 40 underprivileged youngsters to summer camp.

Once a week they meet with me in "Search Sessions." At these meetings, held in the comfort of one of their homes, there are no questions barred. And they all get asked and answered to the best of my ability.

But the nerve center of all this activity is the 7:30 a.m. prayer group which started three years ago in a significant way.

Shortly after the youngsters here organized their own church, the question of social events came up. To my great surprise, there was little enthusiasm for a strong social program.

"So much of life is set up to entertain us," one boy said. "We want the church to give us what we can't get anywhere else: food for our spirits."

These young people are not riding the wave of religious interest; they are ahead of it. They are hungry for the spiritual.

To fill the hunger, we had a complete change of emphasis in our church; made an about-face. It was then that we settled on the principle that has guided us ever since. Life is either holy or it isn't. If it is, then all of life is holy, and everything we do should be a religious expression.

That's the principle Bobby Hughes had in mind. Bobby is our state's basketball hero and a member of our group. During last year's semi-finals, Bobby went cold. He seemed to fade under pressure. He "lost his eye." Before the team headed for the regionals, he was really worried.

I could sense he had something on his mind when he came to the 7:30 group ahead of the others and went in by himself for a moment. The chapel was darkened. Only altar candles were lit.

Bobby settled down near the front of the chapel and seemed to be in deep concentration as the other kids filed in. There was the customary silence. Then Bobby came out with it.

"I'm all tied up in knots," he frankly admitted to the group. "I thought I'd die last Friday when

Bobby says he smiled and wondered if maybe David had also prayed as he let the pebble fly. "O.K. Lord, you shoot it."

But not all our young people are as spectacular as Bobby by any means. We have popular kids, kids who are shy, students and youngsters who have trouble with their studies. Rich kids and those from "across the tracks."

It is from this mixture of people that we get the best picture of just how well we succeed in the idea of finding religion in everything we do.

"I'm all tied up in knots," he frankly admitted to the group. "I thought I'd die last Friday when the coach pulled me from the game. My last home game, and boy did I want to make it good! I've really fouled up and I need help."

As usual the youngsters sat in silence for a moment, waiting for an answer. Jean spoke first. "You're trying too hard." Another suggested, "Bob, the only way you can be any better is to get help from the outside. Why don't you imagine there's another hand on the ball. Why don't you say, 'O.K. Lord, you shoot it.'"

This was just the advice Bobby needed. He was the sensation of the tournament. With one minute to go he shot two baskets in a row from the 30-foot line to even the score. He added another in the last seven seconds from 40 feet out. When pandemonium broke over the crowd and they carried him to the dressing room, someone screamed: "Little David slew Goliath."

Bobby says he smiled and wondered if maybe David had also prayed as he let the pebble fly. "O.K. Lord, you shoot it."

But not all our young people are as spectacular as Bobby by any means. We have popular kids, kids who are shy, students and youngsters who have trouble with their studies. Rich kids and those from "across the tracks."

The Urge To Regulate

The urge to regulate, to control, and to restrict seems boundless in some political circles. One of our most competitive businesses—petroleum marketing—provides a good example.

Some 15 states have been called upon to seriously consider laws regulating the operation of service stations and other marketeers. In some cases, the laws would amount to a complete public utility type of control. The one proposed in Washington state, for instance, would, among other things, fix minimum and maximum prices; make possible local marketing monopolies; empower a commission to grant, revoke or withhold licenses of retailers, and prohibit people from entering the oil business or continuing in it if the commission regarded them as not financially able, or not properly equipped.

Two Canadian provinces have had a full and sad experience with comparable legislation. It was found that regulation inevitably did away with or greatly reduced competition. Stations were run-down, service was poor, the quality of products was inferior. The industry was stagnant. And the laws were repealed.

It is hardly likely that the American public—used as it is to the fine service, top qualities, and reasonable prices brought about by free competition in oil marketing—would approve such laws in this country. But aggressive groups have often slipped bad laws over on the public almost unobserved—and then the public has done the paying and the suffering.

Not The Villains!

It has been stated that wage increases gained by packing industry workers have been paid for by farmers and ranchers, who have been forced to take lower prices for meat animals. The inference is that the packers should absorb a large part, if not all, of the higher wage costs.

This would be desirable from agriculture's point of view. But it is manifestly impossible. The packing industry has intense cost problems of its own. Between 1949 and 1954, its operating expenses advanced 34 per cent. In August of last year, a wage increase added an estimated $50,000,000 annually to those operating costs. That figure was greater, on an annual basis, than the entire 1954 earnings of the industry. And the full impact of the increase is being felt this year.

The packers' profits have been described by a spokesman for the industry as "notoriously low—too low in fact to provide adequate funds for plant improvement and modernization, research and promotion." Complete reports for 1955 are not yet available, but the indications are profits averaged less than one cent per dollar of sales. This means that if no profit at all had existed there would have been no appreciable difference in the prices consumers paid for meat—or the prices farmers received for their livestock.

The Why Of The Retail Exemption

Ever since the federal Fair Labor Standards Act with its minimum wage and other provisions was passed certain enterprises, retailing among them, have been exempt. On three occasions—in 1938, 1949, and 1954—strong efforts were made to bring retailing within the scope of the law. Each time, after extensive debate and hearings, Congress refused.

A sound set of reasons why this should have happened has been presented by Godfrey M. Lebar, editor of Chain Store Age. He writes: "The position Congress has consistently taken on this issue is a realistic one. . . . Whatever legislation is required to provide a minimum wage for retail employees should be 'tailor-made' by state legislatures because of the varying conditions and different views prevailing in the various states."

"The idea that 'broadening the coverage' of the Federal wage-hour law is synonymous with 'improving' it. . . . rests upon an erroneous assumption. That assumption is that minimum-wage legislation is universally desirable, whereas the fact is that in certain areas and under certain conditions it may do more harm than good. . . . And that is why Congress exempts retail workers entirely and the states which do include retail workers differ from one another on minimums."

What this comes down to is that retailing—all retailing—is local. A store may be an outlet of a national chain system with thousands of other outlets. But that store still must compete in all ways on the local level, and adapt itself completely to local needs, desires, attitudes, and conditions. This is the compelling argument—so long recognized by Congress—for the retail exemption.

The Big Union Supports '50-50'

It is significant that at its First Constitutional Convention the AFL-CIO union endorsed the "50-50" law, which provides that half of government-financed cargos going overseas must be carried on merchant ships flying our flag—if those ships are available, and if the rates they offer are fair.

The Union's resolution said that maintenance of the law "is a basic necessity to U. S. shipping. . . . Without the law. . . hundreds of ships would have to be idled and thousands of seamen laid off. . . . We, therefore, urge that the '50-50' law be made permanent and irrevocable, and diligently enforced."

The reasons why this huge union should be interested in the law are obvious enough. The wages and working conditions enjoyed by American seamen on American ships are infinitely superior to those of other maritime powers—and the law is a major factor in maintaining that employment. Additionally, union officials and members must know that armies of industrial workers owe their good jobs to foreign trade (as do great numbers of people engaged in farming) and that a big, progressive and vital U. S. merchant marine is vital to keeping that trade going. World affairs being what they are, we simply cannot afford to depend on foreign-flag merchant ships whose services could be lost to us overnight in another world emergency.

The "50-50" law, in sum, is a measure that can be unequivocally supported by labor, by employers, and by farmers—whatever the other disagreements between these groups.

Spirit Of Resurrection

The cycle of holidays and holy days moves with unerring regularity and each gives pause to those who are sensitive to the meaning of the long history of mankind. For others, they are occasions for loads of fun, for heavy dining and nowadays for long trips away from home.

Having only recently experienced one of those flashing moments in life when one's loved ones stand about a bed wondering what the verdict of the all too human physicians will be, I am, perhaps this year, exceptionally keen on thoughts of rebirth, of resurrection, of the eternal spring.

For that essentially is the universal meaning of Easter, namely, that nothing really dies. Even in this period of fear from the ravages of scientific adventure which can destroy the earth and all that exists thereon, when we are being frightened by such a word as fallout, which means that we and all about us may be contaminated by the ashes of an experiment, we also know that spring does come each year, that the ground warms to fecundity, that flowers bloom and the trees fill out into a bountiful canopy. Again we live daily, even those who in the coldness of winter saw only death.

Life is eternal. Even such areas which were "destroyed" in war are no longer destroyed and as one passes over them in airplanes, it is difficult to mark where once was only ugly rubble because the earth covers its own scars just as a scar upon the heart heals itself and the strength that was lost is regained. And the memory of evil fades away and is lost.

We are passing through a vale of doubt. For several generations men moved from the acceptance of religion on faith and hope to what they called a scientific and rational approach. They argued long on what must be true and the scientists were as dogmatic as the theologians. True, we learned much from science, but we also became disturbed and disheartened because while time and space were shortened, peace of mind and order of living seemed to have disappeared. True, we have automobiles and airplanes and submalines; but we also have atomic bombs and guided missiles and we stand on the verge of war.

And not only do nations distrust and fear each other, but men distrust and fear each other and the sanctity of the home has become disturbed by social novelties and immoralities. The old order has been abandoned but no new order has been established and ugliness prevails, emphasized by the apparatus of communications.

And so, at such a moment, throughout the world we witness a resurrection of faith. It is not the war that turned the hearts of men and women back to God. It was the real, the essential insecurity of life in a scientific age when it is possible to know everything except how to live. But there is a way to live that is not confused and not uncertain. It is in the moral law of God, revealed to man on countless occasions if only he is willing to see and hear the revelation. And in that way of life is peace and justice and truth and therefore happiness.

And so we speak in these days of the revival of religion and those who are prosaic wonder if it is not some novelty like a spectacular on television and others gather statistics to show that one year more people go to churches than another. But the revival of faith is as eternal as the coming of spring. For faith is a normal, a wholesome quality in human beings and when, for one reason or another, they lose faith, they become sick, mentally and even physically sick, and their homes become shambles because their lives are without direction. Faith is no novelty. It is found among the lowliest and among the greatest. It has existed in every period of human development.

All the efforts of the atheistic Communists to destroy even the memory of God have been fruitless and faith is reviving in those countries because the memory of God is a normal, wholesome characteristic of human beings. It cannot be destroyed. God cannot be forgotten, for each year spring comes as a reminder of the rebirth of all things. And spring never fails to come.

Foreign Aid Issue

Enthusiasm for foreign aid, never at a high ebb in Congress, is running out this year, as might have been expected in a body representing the people of the United States who are tired of paying high taxes to help other nations.

The argument that our foreign aid has stopped the spread of communism still carries weight, but the new administration request of 4.9 billions for a long term program is making poor headway. One of the reasons is that the top

Senate Democrats who used to bolster Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in his requests for appropriations have dropped the reins this time, and top Senate Republicans are being very quiet about the whole thing.

Senator Walter F. George (Dem., Ga.) who has stood for foreign aid since its beginning under the Marshall plan has a tough campaign this year against former Governor Herman Talmadge, and has announced besides that he does not favor the long term plan.

Senator John L. McClellan (Dem., Ark.) chairman of the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations is highly annoyed, as are some other Democrats by the refusal of the Eisenhower administration to reveal the list of commodities which might be used for war purposes, which are barred from shipment by other nations to Soviet Russia and other Communist countries.

Foreign aid now goes chiefly to the underdeveloped countries where the Communists are trumpeting their desire to help. But, as soured critics point out the United States over a period has given India half a billion dollars, only to find Prime Minister Nehru making unfriendly gestures toward the U. S. and reserving his best hospitality for the Russians, who have made but one important gift to India—a million tons of steel.

Now the proposals for new authorizations include the Assuan dam on the Nile river in Egypt, a multi-billion dollar project which cannot possibly be finished without U. S. aid, and will require at least ten years to complete. There are also expensive flood control and other projects in the Far East.

Meanwhile the U. S. is behind with some of its own flood control and dam construction projects. With more than 50 billion dollars already spent in foreign aid to halt the Soviet world threat, the show-down has begun with senators asking whether that threat isn't outmaneuvering us at many points by pure propaganda methods, employed by Communist agents carefully trained for that purpose.

Members of Congress who argue that foreign aid can't be cut off abruptly without serious world reaction which would help the cause of communism, still are not in favor of the long term obligation, which would be used to replenish military aid in Europe as well as Asia and Africa, though no aid is intended for Israel or the Arab countries. On the other hand, the Communist countries have no hesitancy about extending military aid to belligerents, so long as the recipients pay for it.

Democrats think they see a way to use the new foreign aid plan as a campaign issue, by condemning it as the beginning of a permanent system of contribution to other free nations, which would dim the hope of tax reduction for a long time to come.

What seems to be the case is that U. S. spending, while on a huge scale has been devoted to either construction or agricultural projects under the direction of engineers or farm advisers who do their work without fanfare. After many millions have been invested in such projects to help people re-

Easter

"He is risen. Hallelujah." Easter morning—and the joy of the resurrection surges through the earth. That which seemed dead has risen to live again. Hallelujah.

Every new blade of grass thrusting up through the shreds of its past life, every bud bursting from its winter sheath, every bird returning to rebuild its tattered nest and rear another brood of nestlings, every newborn babe, is the evidence of things not seen, the substance of things hoped for: Faith. Faith in the continuity of life, the denial of reality to death. This day the sun dances in the sky and the stars sing together in a psalm of life, life eternal.

The church doors swing wide to welcome those who come to join in this praise of life. They wear flowers, the symbol of this faith. The altars are dressed with white lilies, symbols of life risen from the dark earth to rise in glorious purity and heavenly beauty. The organ sends majestic tones rolling through the vaulted aisles and the choir lifts their voices in triumphant chant, "He is risen, Hallelujah."

Of the past, without thought of the declaration of faith in the continuity of life. This faith and the hope it fires enable us to face the sorrow, the tragedy and the despair that befall us with a strength beyond our own. It whispers that, come what may, there is always the third day when the stone is rolled away and the spirit rises to give again, to go forward with new courage and on higher resolve.

For the children this is but the glad day when gifts are showered upon them. The bunny comes to leave gaily colored eggs and there are baskets filled with candy eggs and chocolate rabbits, all good to eat. The people passing by smile upon them and say, "Happy Easter," and they, unknowing, smile back. With scant knowledge of the past, without thought of the future this, today, is their Easter. "Happy Easter."

This is well. Well, too, that they enjoy the church service, the flowers and the music and the kindness bestowed upon them. The time will come when the shadows of life, so mercifully spared them now, will strike with full force on their hearts. Then they will remember and understand the meaning of this day, and, understanding, gather new strength and courage to go forward in faith, the faith of a life that knows no ending. Only a beginning. Happy Easter.

establish themselves, without any considerable return to the U. ## Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

The "scissors test" is the most significant of all the polls being taken concerning newspaper reading habits. For it shows the beneficial "after-glow" which a newspaper leaves in its area, long after a later edition has made today's paper obsolete. And if you wish to sleep soundly without drugs, follow the advice below.

Case R-318: Mrs. A. G. David is a follower of this column in San Gabriel, California.

"Dr. Crane, you have helped me so much that I presume thousands of others have benefited, too," she began.

"For example, I was feeling unusually heavy hearted recently. Then our paper was delivered and I turned to your 'WORRY CLINIC.' That particular day it was headed: 'Try Teaming Up With God.'"

"Well, that suggestion did something wonderful to me, for immediately I felt like an entirely different person."

"It lifted me out of deep darkness into the light. Incidentally, I have cut out many of your daily articles and sent them to friends in different cities."

"They have written to me their appreciation, too, so many, many thanks."

Many excellent polls have been conducted about newspaper reading habits, but one of the most significant is this "scissors test." Whenever a person is so deeply moved or so greatly stimulated that he will clip an item from the newspaper and mail it to friends in other cities, that is sure index of the newspaper's beneficial "after-glow."

Indeed, my greatest pleasure in writing this column comes from learning of the many good mothers who regularly clip the "WORRY CLINIC" and mail it to their children at college or in military service.

As a teacher and moralist, I thus value this "scissors test" even higher than top ranking on the standard reader polls.

Many people in person, as well as through their letters, have duplicated Mrs. David's testimony. When I addressed the Aid Association of Lutherans in Miami Beach, I had mentioned the value of teaming up with God as a Junior Partner.

"Then, when you go to bed at night," I added, "you need not go to sleep with a heavy heart, but with a light one."

"Just tell God you are tired and greatly in need of a sound night's slumber. Since you are trying to be a Junior Partner, then ask Him to take over the night shift for you."

"God never objects to the night shift!"

After my address, one of the women in the audience came up to shake my hand.

"Dr. Crane, I can testify to the serenity that comes when you try to be one of God's Junior Partners," she began.

"During the last war I was worried sick because my only son was aboard a ship in the Pacific where the fighting was intense."

"I couldn't sleep, I felt as if I'd have a nervous breakdown that very night. Oh, it was a terrible feeling."

"But finally I said, 'Oh Lord, my boy's in your keeping. I can't do anything more about it, so won't you please look after him for me?'"

"And, Dr. Crane, I had hardly finished whispering that request before I fell into such a deep sleep that I didn't waken till two hours past my normal time for arising."

"And the very next day I got a letter from my son saying they were safe and out of the danger area."

"So I wish you'd tell people to team up with God more completely since that produces a serenity nobody can obtain with sleeping pills or any other man-made drugs. Don't you agree, Dr. Crane?"

Yes, I agree, which is why I recommend it to all of your readers. Even if you are a Doubting Thomas, who not try it just as a scientific test?

God is the best prescription we psychologists and medics can offer you.

Calvary Route Retraced By Pilgrims In Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector, March 30 (AP)—Pilgrims from many lands plodded through rain, sleet and snow today in a processional march along the path Christ took from his trial to Calvary.

Massive crosses led the way through flagstoned streets.

The procession, dotted with umbrellas, wound between two hills on the Way of the Cross inside the walls of Old Jerusalem.

In numbers it was the smallest in years. Hundreds had been frightened away by talk of the possibility of an immediate outbreak of a second Arab-Israeli war.

On one hill, inside the courtyard of a Moslem high school, is the first station of the Cross—the spot where Christ was tried before Pilate. On the other hill, across a valley, is Calvary and scenes of Christ's crucifixion and burial.

From the tower on one hill it is possible to look across to the summit of the other. Ancient traditions say Pilate selected Calvary as the place of Christ's execution so that he could watch from a tower window.

In Pilate's day executions took place outside the city wall. Today the entire Way of the Cross is within the medieval wall, rebuilt many times but erected in its present state by Ottoman Turkish Sultan Suleiman the Magnificent in the 15th Century.

Organized in groups according to language, the pilgrims stopped at the 14 stations of the Cross. A sermon was preached at each station in the language of the group, relating the incidents which occurred on the way.

The Way of the Cross, which pilgrims tread on Good Friday, actually is several feet above the ground on which Christ walked. The passing of centuries and successive waves of war and conquest have buried the ancient Roman streets far beneath later layers of civilization.

In the basement of the Chapel of Flagellation, near the second station, pilgrims went eight feet below the present roadway and saw the remains of a Roman street grooved by chariot wheels.

Along the route many a shopkeeper or carpenter sits or works on bits of stone column jutting upward from the refuse below. These columns are from what once was the elaborate street of Columns built by the Romans and running the length of Old Jerusalem.

As the pilgrims entered the courtyard of the ancient Church of the Holy Sepulcher, for the last four stations of the Cross, a Moslem call to prayer came from a muezzin at the Mosque of Omar.

This mosque was built on the site where Caliph Omar prayed when he conquered Jerusalem in the 7th Century. The Omar prayed on that site rather than in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher lest Moslems later turn the church into a mosque.

NO INJURIES BUT EXTENSIVE DAMAGES—No injuries were reported in a two-car collision last night in front of Dan's Place, 3407 Winnboro Road. State Trooper Casey L. Benton, 22, 404 Pine street charged with reckless driving and improper brakes. Center is John E. Frith, 18, 809 Winnboro Road, charged with improper parking. 18. A big audience certainly brings out the best in most ORATORS. One judges an OVATION by such things as sincerity, enthusiasm, and length of applause, rather than by pure volume of noise; thus the size of audience hardly matters.

22. He himself might well find it a LOVELY country. There is no particular reason why he should find it LOVELY since he would hardly be exploring on his own.

24. How much they GET, yes; how much they BET has no direct bearing — it is more a question of how much they win or lose. NET is not as direct as GET and BET is certainly not as good.

Franklin Parish Citizens Council Elects Directors

WINNSBORO, March 30 (Special)—Franklin Parish Citizens Council met in the Winnboro High School Friday night.

The council formed a cooperation and the articles of incorporation were adopted. Directors elected at the meeting last night were, J. J. Kerrigan, J. L. Donnell, John T. O'Brien, W. T. Martin, Earl Fletcher, James S. Nugent, S. E. Lee, Jr., William R. Baker, M. D. Peel, and Jim C. Ross. C. H. Foster, Jr., was elected secretary.

William R. Baker, chairman of the council, said a president and other officers would be elected at a meeting of the directors within the next two weeks.

The main speaker at the meeting was W. J. Simmons of Jackson, Miss. He is the editor of the Citizens Council newspaper of Miss. Administrator of the state association of Citizens Councils in Mississippi.

Simmons said the Citizens Councils do not want integration now, or ever. He said we are confronted with a state of mortal combat which is none the less serious because it is a cold war, and the left wing forces are behind the integration movement.

We will not submit to a tyrant in Washington any more than our forefathers would submit to a tyrant in England. He suggested a course that Citizens Councils should follow. One, a strong organization; two, sharp counter against the N.A.A.C.P. and their allies and third, strong support of state sovereignty.

Minister, Wife Plan To Wear Old Clothes At Easter

PATERSON, N. J., March 30 (AP)—A minister and his wife announced today they plan to wear old clothes to church Easter Sunday as an example to those who stay home because they cannot keep up with the Joneses.

The Rev. Mitchell Modisett, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church, said:

"People ought to wear their best clothes to church but surely ought not to stay home because they have no new Easter clothes."

Beneath his robe, he said, he'll wear trousers eight years old, and shoes bought four years ago. Mrs. Modisett plans to wear a dress five or seven years old.

Officers Search For Two Prison Farm Escapees

Area officers set off a manhunt for two escaped East Carroll prison farm workers yesterday afternoon after receiving a report that the pair had been seen in the vicinity of Liberty Baptist Church near Calhoun.

Ouachita parish deputies, Lincoln deputies, and Rayville authorities using bloodhounds combed the woods yesterday afternoon and were still searching late last night for the escapees. Louisiana State police cars were maintaining a constant vigil on U. S. Highway 80 near the woody area.

Officers were searching for Marvin Lee Loveless, 28, of Booneville, Miss.; and Donald Tubby, 18, of Philadelphia, Miss., according to Louisiana State Police.

Both escaped the East Carroll prison farm near Lake Providence Monday night and were reported to be heading for Monroe, according to Louisiana State Police.

Two airplanes, one a state police operated craft, and the other piloted by Ouachita parish sheriff Bailey Grant flew over the area yesterday in efforts to spot the pair.

Loveless alias Victor L. Cain, was sentenced to the prison farm for armed robbery, according to state police. Officers said the man was wearing blue jeans, western type shirt, and a blue jumper at the time of the escape.

Tubby identified as a Choctaw Indian was wearing blue jeans, blue shirt and blue jumper when he escaped.

one-year-old daughter, Mozelle. She said she ran away from Dicus last December at Oklahoma City.

The young woman is held at East Baton Rouge Parish jail, while her daughter, suffering from a bad cold, was placed in a hospital. Miss Cornish is held on a fugitive from justice charge.

LeBlanc said she "admitted" writing about 55 bad checks in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oklahoma. The checks generally ranged from $10 to $30.

"She told us they began in San Angelo, Tex., and did a lot of traveling," LeBlanc said, "rarely staying over two weeks in one place. The checks she remembered were cashed in Abilene, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Fort Worth and El Paso, Tex.; Palmdale, Lancaster and Los Angeles, Cal., and Oklahoma City, Okla."

The deputy said photostats of Miss Cornish's nine-page statement, given to police today, would be mailed to all cities mentioned in the statement.

"It'll probably take a week or so to verify this stuff," he said. "Some of the offenses go all the way back to 1952."

He said the FBI was studying checks cashed from a Texas bank in other states under false names for possible federal charges.

"She told us they used so many different names, she couldn't remember them," LeBlanc said. "Dicus told her to keep the checks under $50 because that was a misdemeanor. It is in Texas, but anything over $20 is a felony in Louisiana and some other states."

"She said they often picked up the blank checks at the store where they cashed them and were almost never asked for any identification. They would pick a local address out of a classified ad and put it under the signature."

LeBlanc concluded, Miss Cornish told officers she had been married Dec. 30 at Woodville, Miss., to a man she thinks is now in the Army and on March 3 at Magnolia, Miss. Both Woodville and Magnolia are just over the state line in Mississippi.

Calvary Route Retraced By Pilgrims In Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector, March 30 (P)—Pilgrims from many lands plodded through rain, sleet and snow today in a processional march along the path Christ took from his trial to Calvary.

Massive crosses led the way through flagstoned streets.

The procession, dotted with umbrellas, wound between two hills on the Way of the Cross inside the walls of Old Jerusalem.

In numbers it was the smallest in years. Hundreds had been frightened away by talk of the possibility of an immediate outbreak of a second Arab-Israeli war.

On one hill, inside the courtyard of a Moslem high school, is the first station of the Cross—the spot where Christ was tried before Pilate. On the other hill, across a valley, is Calvary and scenes of Christ's crucifixion and burial.

From the tower on one hill it is possible to look across to the summit of the other. Ancient traditions say Pilate selected Calvary as the place of Christ's execution so that he could watch from a tower window.

In Pilate's day executions took place outside the city wall. Today the entire Way of the Cross is within the medieval wall, rebuilt many times but erected in its present state by Ottoman Turkish Sultan Sulaiman the Magnificent in the 15th Century.

Organized in groups according to language, the pilgrims stopped at the 14 stations of the Cross. A sermon was preached at each station in the language of the group, relating the incidents which occurred on the way.

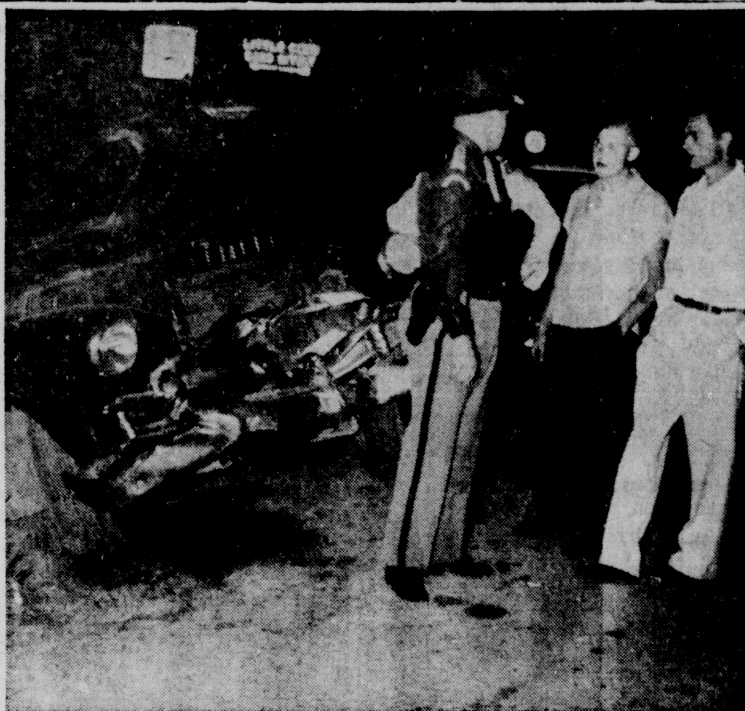

The Way of the Cross, which pilgrims tread on Good Friday, actually is several feet above the ground on which Christ walked. The passing of centuries and successive waves of war and conquest have buried the ancient Roman streets far beneath later layers of civilization.

In the basement of the Chapel of Flagellation, near the second station, pilgrims went eight feet below the present roadway and saw the remains of a Roman street grooved by chariot wheels.

Along the route many a shopkeeper or carpenter sits or works on bits of stone columns jutting upward from the refuse below. These columns are from what once was the elaborate Street of Columns built by the Romans and running the length of Old Jerusalem.

As the pilgrims entered the courtyard of the ancient Church of the Holy Sepulcher, for the last four stations of the Cross, a Moslem call to prayer came from a muezzin at the Mosque of Omar.

This mosque was built on the site where Caliph Omar prayed when he conquered Jerusalem in the 7th Century. The Omar prayed on that site rather than in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher lest Moslems later turn the church into a mosque.

Franklin Parish Citizens Council Elects Directors

WINNSBORO, March 30 (Special)—Franklin Parish Citizens Council met in the Winnsboro High School Friday night.

The council formed a cooperation and the articles of in cooperation were adopted. Directors elected at the meeting last night were, J. J. Kerrigan, J. L. Donnell, John T. O'Brien, W. T. Martin, Earl Fletcher, James S. Nugent, S. E. Lee, Jr., William R. Baker, M. D. Peel, and Jim C. Ross. C. H. Foster, Jr., was elected secretary.

William R. Baker, chairman of the council, said a president and other officers would be elected at a meeting of the directors within the next two weeks.

The main speaker at the meeting was W. J. Simmons of Jackson, Miss. He is the editor of the Citizens Council newspaper of Miss. Administrator of the state association of Citizens Councils in Mississippi.

Simmons said the Citizens Councils do not want integration now, or ever. He said we are confronted with a state of mortal combat which is none the less serious because its a cold war, and the left wing forces are behind the integration movement.

We will not submit to a tyrant in Washington any more than our forefathers would submit to a tyrant in England. He suggested a course that Citizens Councils should follow. One, a strong organization; two, sharp counter against the N.A.A.C.P. and their allies and third, strong support of state sovereignty.

Minister, Wife Plan To Wear Old Clothes At Easter

PATERSON, N. J., March 30 (P)—A minister and his wife announced today they plan to wear old clothes to church Easter Sunday as an example to those who stay home because they cannot keep up with the Joneses.

The Rev. Mitchell Modisett, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church, said:

"People ought to wear their best clothes to church but surely ought not to stay home because they have no new Easter clothes."

Beneath his robe, he said, he'll wear trousers eight years old, and shoes bought four years ago. Mrs. Modisett plans to wear a dress five or seven years old.

Officers Search For Two Prison Farm Escapees

Area officers set off a manhunt for two escaped East Carroll prison farm workers yesterday afternoon after receiving a report that the pair had been seen in the vicinity of Liberty Baptist Church near Calhoun.

Ouachita parish deputies, Lincoln deputies, and Rayville authorities using bloodhounds combed the woods yesterday afternoon and were still searching late last night for the escapees. Louisiana State police cars were maintaining a constant vigil on U. S. Highway 80 near the woody area.

Officers were searching for Marvin Lee Loveless, 26, of Booneville, Miss.; and Donald Tubby, 18, of Philadelphia, Miss., according to Louisiana State Police.

Both escaped the East Carroll prison farm near Lake Providence Monday night and were reported to be heading for Monroe, according to Louisiana State Police.

Two airplanes, one a state police operated craft, and the other piloted by Ouachita parish sheriff Bailey Grant flew over the area yesterday in efforts to spot the pair.

Loveless alias Victor L. Cain, was sentenced to the prison farm for armed robbery, according to state police. Officers said the man was wearing blue jeans, western type shirt, and a blue jumper at the time of the escape.

Tubby identified as a Choctaw Indian was wearing blue jeans, blue shirt and blue jumper when he escaped.

one-year-old daughter, Morelle. She said she ran away from Dicus last December at Oklahoma City.

The young woman is held at East Baton Rouge Parish jail, while her daughter, suffering from a bad cold, was placed in a hospital. Miss Cornish is held on a fugitive from justice charge.

LeBlanc said she "admitted" writing about 55 bad checks in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Oklahoma. The checks generally ranged from $10 to $30.

"She told us they began in San Angelo, Tex., and did a lot of traveling," LeBlanc said, "rarely staying over two weeks in one place. The checks she remembered were cashed in Abilene, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Fort Worth and El Paso, Tex.; Palmdale, Lancaster and Los Angeles, Cal., and Oklahoma City, Okla."

The deputy said photostats of Miss Cornish's nine-page statement, given to police today, would be mailed to all cities mentioned in the statement.

"It'll probably take a week or so to verify this stuff," he said. "Some of the offenses go all the way back to 1952."

He said the FBI was studying checks cashed from a Texas bank in other states under false names for possible federal charges.

"She told us they used so many different names, she couldn't remember them," LeBlanc said. "Dicus told her to keep the checks under $50 because that was a misdemeanor. It is in Texas, but anything over $20 is a felony in Louisiana and some other states."

"She said they often picked up the blank checks at the store where they cashed them and were almost never asked for any identification. They would pick a local address out of a classified ad and put it under the signature."

LeBlanc concluded, Miss Cornish told officers she had been married Dec. 30 at Woodville, Miss., to a man she thinks is now in the Army and on March 3 at Magnolia, Miss. Both Woodville and Magnolia are just over the state line in Mississippi.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Let's Face It—Skin On Face Reflects General Condition

The complexion very quickly reflects general health, the way we live and eat and even the way we feel and think.

Too many women think of the skin on their faces as a thing apart from their general body make-up. They expect to apply one or two of the modern high-powered products available and find that these make up for dietary deficiencies and a lack of fresh air and sunshine, exercise and sleep.

There is no one food which will build a beautiful skin but a well balanced diet, with emphasis on the vitamins and minerals, will promote skin beauty. If you sleep and rest enough, exercise and deeply breathe in fresh air, and include generous amounts of the leafy and green vegetables, meat and milk, eggs and whole grain and citrus fruit juices in your diet, you will have a head start on your contemporaries who do not go in for such healthful living.

Give Skin Rest
It is said to be a fine idea to give your skins a rest from cosmetics for part of each 24 hours. Cleanse the skin thoroughly and then let it breathe for a few hours. Even the woman who works outside her home should try to find time for this.

If you do not have the problem of dryness, of course your skin will have this opportunity while you sleep. However, most women need a lubricating cream and others do not wish to go to bed without make-up because of looking less attractive for their husbands.

If you do not work outside your home you can soak your complexion in a lubricating cream for a few hours daily, then remove the cream and let the skin "breathe" for another few hours.

You can accomplish many beauty routines while doing your housework. Remember to watch your posture while going about the house. Pull your tummy in, lift your chest and keep your chin parallel to the floor as you perform your tasks. Housewives have a big advantage over the career gal when it comes to skin care and beauty routines.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Your Outer Coating," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 47 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Plenty Of Social Life Available To Teacher

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: I graduated from college last June and in September began teaching. I'm in a very desirable school and enjoy my work — but there life seems to end. In college I was very active; between studying and my social life I rarely had a free minute. Now everything has stopped except my job.

My old friends are married or have moved away; some are in service. I've joined quite a few clubs with the hope of making new friends, but haven't been successful so far. I'm sure there must be something more to life than education and getting ahead in the world. Lucille

ANSWER: Twenty-two certainly is no age to settle down and watch the world go by (what age is it?). Of course you want to be in the thick of traffic, but that you will never, never do if you let your mind settle into the doldrums. College was security for you; you inevitably met the same people every day, you followed a given pattern. Achieving a degree set you on your own and, frankly, you aren't sure how to move independently.

SEEK NEW FRIENDS

Your college friends scattered — they always do. You remember them fondly, you correspond with some, I hope; perhaps reunions are being planned, but this has nothing to do with the daily existence you must maintain. Surely there must be some social life among the teachers in your school.

How about extra-curricular activities? Teachers can always help in these. They lead to dances, picnics, parties and who knows? Maybe some of your pupils have older brothers.

Since you teach at high-school level, there are athletics, clubs for various courses, music, art, dramatics and a host of things to interest you. You can't very well move beyond the orbit of your work, so you must find your social life within it.

Teaching is not an isolationist profession. Show a little enthusiasm for your work, your pupils and their work. You've been at your job too short a time for it to become humdrum. Be content with small beginnings and you'll be amazed at how fast they spread. Perk up, girl, be interested and you'll soon be interesting.

DEAR MISS DIX: My best girl friend is 17 and her mother doesn't allow her to date. She tells her mother she's coming to my house, a boy picks her up here and they go out. I'm afraid her mother might phone some night and ask for her. Do you think it's right for a mother to keep her daughter so restricted? Molly

ANSWER: No, Molly, I don't think a mother should put such restrictions on a daughter, but neither do I agree with the solution your girl friend has adopted. Sneakiness and lying are no answer to anything.

Your part in the proceedings is wrong and, though I know it's hard to refuse a girl friend's request, particularly when non-operation may cost you her friendship, I do urge that you cease being a party to this deception.

New Alloy Spurs Development Of Turbines In Autos

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 30 —UP—A new process of strengthening a nickel alloy to a point where it might make gas turbine automobiles practical in "two to five years" was revealed Friday by a University of Michigan metallurgy professor.
Dr. R. A. Flinn said the process makes possible a material strong enough to withstand high temperatures developed in a gas turbine and still cheap enough to allow the turbine to compete with piston-type engines now used in automobiles.

He said the process consisted of melting a known nickel alloy in a vacuum furnace, preventing oxygen and other gases from combining with the metal during melting. It was developed by a research team Flinn headed, working under the auspices of the U. S. Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

The alloy treated in the vacuum furnace has 38 per cent greater tensile strength than cobalt alloys previously used in turbines and from two to 10 times the ductility of earlier nickel base alloys, Flinn said.
"This means engineers can make an engine which will last longer or go faster, according to how they want to use the advantage," Flinn said.

But he emphasized the metallurgists were concerned only with the metallurgical problems and engineers still would have to take their findings and develop an engine.

Rhode Island claims it turns out half the lace produced in the United States.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Let's Face It—Skin On Face
Reflects General Condition

The complexion very quickly reflects general health, the way we live and eat and even the way we feel and think.

Too many women think of the skin on their faces as a thing apart from their general body make-up. They expect to apply one or two of the modern high powered products available and find that these make up for dietary deficiencies and a lack of fresh air and sunshine, exercise and sleep.

There is no one food which will build a beautiful skin but a well balanced diet, with emphasis on the vitamins and minerals, will promote skin beauty. If you sleep and rest enough, exercise and deeply breathe in fresh air, and include generous amounts of the leafy and green vegetables, meat and milk, eggs and whole grain and citrus fruit juices in your diet, you will have a head start on your contemporaries who do not go in for such healthful living.

Give Skin Rest

It is said to be a fine idea to give our skins a rest from cosmetics for part of each 24 hours. Cleanse the skin thoroughly and then let it breathe for a few hours. Even the woman who works outside her home should try to find time for this.

If you do not have the problem of dryness, of course your skin will have this opportunity while you sleep. However, most women need a lubricating cream and others do not wish to go to bed without make-up because of looking less attractive for their husbands.

If you do not work outside your home you can soak your complexion in a lubricating cream for a few hours daily, then remove the cream and let the skin "breathe" for another few hours.

You can accomplish many beauty routines while doing your housework. Remember to watch your posture while going about the house. Pull your tummy in, lift your chest and keep your chin parallel to the floor as you perform your tasks. Housewives have a big advantage over the career gal when it comes to skin care and beauty routines.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Your Outer Coating," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 47 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Plenty Of Social Life
Available To Teacher

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: I graduated from college last June and in September began teaching. I'm in a very desirable school and enjoy my work — but there life seems to end. In college I was very active; between studying and my social life I rarely had a free minute. Now everything has stopped except my job.

My old friends are married or have moved away; some are in service. I've joined quite a few clubs with the hope of making new friends, but haven't been successful so far. I'm sure there must be something more to life than education and getting ahead in the world. Lucille

ANSWER: Twenty-two certainly is no age to settle down and watch the world go by (what age is?). Of course you want to be in the thick of traffic, but that you will never, never do if you let your mind settle into the doldrums. College was security for you; you inevitably met the same people every day, you followed a given pattern. Achieving a degree set you on your own and, frankly, you aren't sure how to move independently.

SEEK NEW FRIENDS

Your college friends scattered — they always do. You remember them fondly, you correspond with some, I hope; perhaps reunions are being planned, but this has nothing to do with the daily existence you must maintain. Surely there must be some social life among the teachers in your school.

Since you teach at high-school level, there are athletics, clubs for various courses, music, art, dramatics and a host of things to interest you. You can't very well move beyond the orbit of your work, so you must find your social life within it.

Teaching is not an isolationist profession. Show a little enthusiasm for your work, your pupils and their work. You've been at your job too short a time for it to become humdrum. Be content with small beginnings and you'll be amazed at how fast they spread. Perk up, girl, be interested and you'll soon be interesting.

Conferees

In this country through state and local government agencies.

Conley said this might be a revival of a "food stamp allotment" plan used prior to World War II or some similar program.

If new legislation is needed to put this into operation, the farm bill orders the secretary to recommend this to congress.

The conference group approved broad powers for Benson in setting up the conservation reserve phase of the soil bank, with 450 million dollars of annual payments proposed for the next 10 to 15 years.

Under it, farmers could get payments by signing contracts to divert part of their croplands to grass, trees, water storage, wild game refuges or similar purposes.

These agreements would have to run for at least three years and could extend for as long as 10 years on grass or up to 15 years for planting trees.

Accepted was the administration proposal that funds to operate this program would come from the Commodity Credit Corporation, Agriculture Department agency which now has 12 billion dollars for various farm price support operations.

Also accepted was a Senate provision that would require the secretary to come to Congress for annual soil bank appropriations after Feb. 1 of next year.

Funds for the half billion dollars for special support operations on pork and other perishables must be supplied later by a separate money bill.

Earlier in the day, the committee decided the government should assume the cost of processing surplus food commodities which are given away in this country and abroad.

"The next thing we'll be asked to do is to cook and serve it," protested Sen. Ellender (D-La.), committee chairman, who opposed the move.

The committee wrote the provision into the omnibus farm bill. It is trying to reconcile two widely different pieces of legislation passed by the House and Senate.

Ellender said work on the compromise bill probably could not be completed until late next week. Congress will not consider the conference report until after it returns April 3 from an Easter holiday.

The proposal to process giveaway commodities at government expense was contained in the Senate bill. Relief agencies have complained in the past that government food donations have often been in the form of unmillable wheat and grain, that they could not be used.

"First we just gave them these supplies," Ellender said. "Next we agreed to pay freight or transportation to ports. Now we must pay for processing."

U. S. farms had 50,000 farm autos in 1910; 4,400,000 in 1952.

light when leaders found it necessary to come to the defense of First Secretary Walter Ulbricht. Ulbricht, prior to the conference denounced Stalin on several occasions. He accused the late Soviet Premier of building a "Fuehrer's cult" and failing to prepare for war against the Nazis.

The delegates formally endorsed Ulbricht's stand.

Delegates also approved a second five-year plan for East Germany which calls for a 55 per cent increase in production. They named an eight-man commission to "re-examine" expulsions from the party and punishment for former comrades—presumably to bring at least some of the purge victims back into the fold.

During the party Premier Otto Grotewohl attacked his own Justice Ministry, headed by Hilde (Red Hilde) Benjamin, for failing to safeguard the rights of citizens.

Delegations from 21 foreign nations attended the sessions in addition to nearly 3,000 East German delegates. The Soviet Union did not send a delegation.

Stewardess Doris Weltsek, 24, said Miss Mills was leaning over a sink clad only in brassiere and panties in the compartment which she had locked from the inside. Her other clothing was strewn about beside her.

Police said she cut herself on both wrists, her throat and right ankle after entering the lounge about 10 minutes before the plane landed.

Miss Weltsek used her hands as a tourniquet to stop the blood from flowing from the woman's wrists. Miss Mills was given emergency treatment aboard the plane by a physician passenger and then taken by ambulance to Kings county hospital in Brooklyn where doctors described her wounds as "superficial."

"Why does anyone do it? It was a man," she told newsmen as she walked with assistance from the plane.

Members of her family in Bethlehem, Pa., were unavailable for comment.

Miss Weltsek took the woman to a doctor for an examination when the plane stopped over at Sydney, Nova Scotia, because a passenger told the stewardess that Miss Mills "appears to be ill." The doctor gave her a sedative.

The stewardess sat with Miss Mills during the rest of the trip to New York.

"She kept repeating while I sat with her that someone was trying to kill her," Miss Weltsek said.

Miss Mills, a graduate of Syracuse University, told newsmen that she had an American boyfriend in Paris but refused to identify him. She said she had been working as a secretary for a firm in Paris the past year.

Besides the sub-machinegun, Piper said, the men were armed with a sawed-off shotgun, a sawed off .30 caliber rifle, four revolvers, and a fountain pen type weapon capable of firing either a .38 bullet or tear gas. Agents also found two bullet proof vests and $4,370 in cash.

"They were loaded for bear and would have used it if we had given them the chance," Piper said.

The agents described Jones as "a killer and half crazy" and said he, too, would have been added to the most wanted list at the first vacancy.

Jones drew a life sentence after he pleaded guilty to participation in the cut-throat killing of a fellow convict at the Mississippi prison in 1953. Two other men were sentenced to die in the same slaying.

Arraigned seven hours after their capture, Montos and Jones were ordered held for grand jury action and bond was set at $100,000 each.

The FBI said Montos, who formerly lived in Tampa, Fla., was wanted as an escaped prisoner and on bank robbery-burglary charges.

In this country through state and local government agencies.

Cooley said this might be a revival of a "food stamp allotment" plan used prior to World War II or some similar program.

If new legislation is needed to put this into operation, the farm bill orders the secretary to recommend this to congress.

The conference group approved broad powers for Benson in setting up the conservation reserve phase of the soil bank, with 450 million dollars of annual payments proposed for the next 10 to 15 years.

Under it, farmers could get payments by signing contracts to divert part of their croplands to grass, trees, water storage, wild game refuges or similar purposes.

These agreements would have to run for at least three years and could extend for as long as 10 years on grass or up to 15 years for planting trees.

Accepted was the administration proposal that funds to operate this program would come from the Commodity Credit Corporation, Agriculture Department agency which now has 12 billion dollars for various farm price support operations.

Also accepted was a Senate provision that would require the secretary to come to Congress for annual soil bank appropriations after Feb. 1 of next year.

Funds for the half billion dollars for special support operations on pork and other perishables must be supplied later by a separate money bill.

Earlier in the day, the committee decided the government should assume the cost of processing surplus food commodities which are given away in this country and abroad.

"The next thing we'll be asked to cook and serve it," protested Sen. Ellender (D-La.), committee chairman, who opposed the move.

The committee wrote the provision into the omnibus farm bill. It is trying to reconcile two widely different pieces of legislation passed by the House and Senate.

Ellender said work on the compromise bill probably could not be completed until late next week. Congress will not consider the conference report until after it returns April 9 from an Easter holiday.

The proposal to process giveaway commodities at government expense was contained in the Senate bill. Relief agencies have complained in the past that government food donations have often been in the form of unmill wheat and grain, that they could not be used.

"First we just gave them these supplies," Ellender said. "Next we agreed to pay freight or transportation to ports. Now we must pay for processing."

U. S. farms had 50,000 farm autos in 1910; 4,400,000 in 1952.

Officials Say Free World Defenses To Be Hurt If Iceland Bases Are Lost

WASHINGTON, March 30 — U.S. officials said Friday the forced withdrawal of U.S. troops from Iceland would hurt free world defense strategy seriously and give Russia a stunning propaganda victory.

There was rising optimism in diplomatic circles here that Iceland would change its mind. But officials made no effort to minimize the seriousness of the situation if U.S. troops are forced to leave the 1,000-year-old island republic.

The Iceland parliament adopted a resolution earlier this week calling for withdrawal of U.S. forces from the big air base at Keflavik, a stepping stone for military and commercial planes flying the North Atlantic route to Europe.

The alarm with which American officials greeted the first word of the action was subsiding somewhat as additional details began arriving here. There was a growing feeling the action merely was the outgrowth of Iceland's hot political campaign and that feeling would subside after the Republic's June 24 elections.

Consequently, U.S. officials hope the Icelandic government, a member of the North Atlantic Treaty

Organization, would come to realize the grave consequences of such a withdrawal and refuse to carry through the parliament's suggestion.

But if Iceland stands firm, American strategists said, the withdrawal of U.S. troops would: 1. Leave a dangerous gap in NATO's Atlantic defense strategy. 2. Tempt other nations to ask NATO forces to withdraw from defense bases located elsewhere around Russia's perimeter.

3. Back the Moscow propaganda line that the cold war is over and that collective defense systems no longer are necessary.

4. Leave Iceland open to Soviet forces in the event of any East-West hot war.

Ban On Common Law Marriages Voted In Miss.

JACKSON, Miss., March 30 — The Senate tonight voted 29-10 to abolish common-law marriages in Mississippi despite the warning of a senator that the action "would make 10,000 illegitimate children and make 10,000 women live in adultery."

The House approved a similar measure earlier in the session, but it was killed in the Senate Judiciary Committee. To get around the committee, the bill was then introduced as a Senate bill and passed tonight.

A vast majority of common-law marriages in Mississippi occur among Negroes, according to Welfare Department records.

Sen. W. B. Alexander of Cleveland, who fought the measure that had the endorsement of Gov. J. P. Coleman, said:

"I have repeatedly asked what possible benefit to maintaining segregation this bill will have. I have had no satisfactory answer. I feel as deeply as any man in this chamber about segregation but I have never been told how this will help.

"As poor as Mississippi is, this will simply cost us thousands of dollars. The federal government recognizes marriage laws of the states and if we outlaw common-law marriages, social security will be paid to widows and children of these marriages. There is not now a single suit on file to force integration of Mississippi schools. Let's study this for two years and see what its long-range effect might be."

Coleman was visiting on the Senate floor when the measure came up.

42 Hens Slain By Vicious Animals

Forty-two hens, the property of T. L. Salley of 607 N. Seventh street, West Monroe, were killed Friday.

According to police, dogs or "some other animals" had killed 42 hens and scattered them over the chicken yard which is about the size of half a city block.

All of the hens had been killed by something catching hold of their necks and heads. Feathers were all over the chicken yard, Salley reported to the local police sometime during Thursday night, officers said.

The hens were valued at $2 each and layed a total of about two dozen eggs a day, Salley said.

Stevenson Scoffs At 'Scrap Adlai' Drive In Illinois

CHICAGO, March 30—UP—Adlai E. Stevenson returned home from a two-day campaign in California Friday and laughed off a "scrap Stevenson" movement that arose in Illinois in his absence.

Stevenson said he thought he "set the record straight" in California on his charge that Sen. Estes Kefauver has been raising a cry of "bossism" against his supporters.

He said that, according to Kefauver, "everybody in California who prefers me is a boss, and I am glad to say there are thousands of them."

Stevenson, who goes to Springfield, Ill., Monday for a big Democratic rally, was told that some Democrats have scheduled a rival "scrap Stevenson" meeting the same day.

Asked what he thought of such a movement, Stevenson laughed heartily.

"Oh, I'd be unalterably opposed to that," he said. He added he hadn't heard about the rival meeting or who was behind it.

The meeting was called by John R. Asher, a Democratic state central committeeman who announced he was switching his loyalty to Kefauver.

Asher said he made a survey of 30 downstate Illinois county chairmen and they "were of the opinion of showing for him (Stevenson) ion they couldn't make any kind for President."

Senior Recital Set For April 5

NATCHITOCHES, March 30 — (Special)—On April 5 in the Little Theater at Northwestern State College Virgie McGuffee, music major from Harrisonburg, will give her senior recital at 8 p.m.

Miss McGuffee, popular soprano, has taken part in a large number of musical activities on and off the Northwestern campus for the past four years. She will sing on television on April 14, with the College Singers, of which she is a member.

A voice student of Richard Lamb, member of the NSC music faculty, she has been soloist in the annual presentation of Handel's Messiah, and has appeared in the Christmas Assembly, an annual college event, for three years.

Her recital program will include selections from Torelli, Secchi, Bach, Handel, Verdi, Strauss, Poulenc, Tipton, Rachmaninoff and Fennel. Her favorite selections on the program are the Verdi aria, "Oh, patria mia," from Aida, two Poulenc songs in French and Rachmaninoff's "Here Beauty Dwells."

Her accompanist will be Carolyn Byrd of Springhill, also a senior music student, who will play three numbers, two Chopin nocturnes and a Rachmaninoff prelude.

Asked what he thought of such a movement, Stevenson laughed heartily.

"Oh, I'd be unalterably opposed to that," he said. He added he hadn't heard about the rival meeting or who was behind it.

Eastland Using Foreign Refugees As Sharecroppers

WASHINGTON, March 30 — Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) who opposed the 1953 Refugee Relief Act, has two European refugee families working on his Mississippi plantation, but has decided against bringing a third family there.

Officials administering the program said today that Eastland once applied for a third family, but later sent word he did not wish to follow through on the application.

Refugees now on Eastland's 4,000-acre Delta farm are:

1. The family of Josef Fischer, 41-year-old Hungarian, sponsored by the National Catholic Welfare Conference upon arrival in February.

2. The family of Albert Siewert, 42-year-old Russian, sponsored by Lutheran Refugee Service upon arrival March 12.

At the State Department, officials said these two families were brought into the country under President Eisenhower's Refugee Relief Act. Eastland signed a Senate committee's minority report opposing the act, and voted against it in 1953.

Eastland gave assurances when the Fischer and Siewert families came to this country that they would find homes and employment as sharecroppers on his plantation.

Officials said it was about three weeks ago that Eastland notified the department he had decided against carrying through at this time on his application for a third family.

Factors involved, they said, included some disagreement about the family selected for Eastland and the senator's apparent feeling that he could get along with the help he already had.

Asked what he thought of such a movement, Stevenson laughed heartily.

"Oh, I'd be unalterably opposed to that," he said. He added he hadn't heard about the rival meeting or who was behind it.

Little Rock Faces Oklahoma City In Exhibition Today

Travelers Defeat Northeast Indians By 9 To 7 Margin

The Oklahoma City Indians of the Texas League came to Monroe today in a two-game series with the Little Rock Travelers as Manager Steve Souchock's Southern Association club nears the end of its spring training stay at Legion Memorial Stadium.

The Travelers, after taping the Northeast Louisiana State Indians, 9-7, in a seven-inning exhibition here yesterday, will greet the Oklahoma City outfit at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Legion Memorial Stadium, and follow with the same club again tomorrow in the last exhibition here for the Travs who break camp Monday and continue their exhibition series with Shreveport and Oklahoma City on the journey home.

Marlin Stuart is due to hurl for the Travs today, and Manager Souchock plans to shoot Joe Tully at the Indians tomorrow.

Russ Burns, veteran outfielder, pulled the Travelers out of the fire in their spring with Northeast's col-leagues yesterday. He hit three singles in as many official times at bat to drive in four runs. He scored two.

Herb Fischer and Jim Bryant shared the Little Rock pitching with Coach George Luffey's Redskins tagging them for eleven hits, the same total compiled by the Travs of three Tribe clunkers, Tommy Leos, "Bo" Laird, and Huey Jinks.

The score was knotted at 7-7 when Burns singled behind Payne's double for Little Rock broke the deadlock. Andy Frazier's following double brought Burns in for insurance.

Northeast opened the game with three runs as Dennis Fields singled, Don Stewart doubled, and Leos walked to load the bases. Frazier muffed Bill Bradley's grounder, Field's scoring. Ike Mc-Mullen forced Stewart at the plate and Bob Robinson fouled out but Frank Scalia lashed a single into center field scoring Leos and Bradley.

The Travelers roared for five in their half of the first. John Paul Jones singled, Frey passed to R. C. Oley and Payne loaded the sacks. Burns drove Jones and Oley across with a single, and Payne was thrown out, Leos to Harold Davis, as he tried to make it from first. Spider Wilhelm and Barry Miner walked, filling the bases again. Frazier forced Minor, scoring Burns. Luke Tucker's single tallied Wilhelm, and a single by Fischer counted Frazier but Tucker, trying to make it to third on the hit, was thrown out by Stewart.

Northeast tied it in the second, Stewart singled, Leos walked, and Bradley singled Stewart home, sending Leos to third. The throw on McMullen's fielder's choice was too late at the plate, Leos scoring.

Rags-To-Riches Warriors Match Pistons In Finals

PHILADELPHIA, March 30 (AP)—Should the Philadelphia Warriors win the National Basketball Association championship by taking Fort Wayne in the seven-game tie series starting here tomorrow, the victory would complete one of the finest team revivals in the annals of sports.

Only three years ago, the Warriors won 12 and lost 57, finishing 34th games out of first place, an all-time low for professional basketball. The following year they were 15 games from the top and last season, although last, were 10 games behind the leading Syracuse Nats.

Eddie Gottlieb, who this year gave up the coaching reins to concentrate on his busy job as owner of the club, took a terrific beating financially, but this veteran of some 40 years in basketball hung on. He saw better days ahead for a young, talented team just beginning to bud.

This year the Warriors ripened. They won 43 games, more than any Warrior team in history, won the eastern division title in the N.B.A. by six games, and eliminated Syracuse three games to two in the semi-final playoffs. As for Gottlieb he never had it so good. The Warriors broke all box office records.

What changed this tail-end team to a division champion?

Coach George Senesky, a star of the 1946-47 Warriors, the last Philadelphia pro-basketball champion, took over from Gottlieb as head coach. He put together a five of Paul Arizin, Neil Johnston, Jack George, Joe Galbreath, and Tom Gola, plus a talented bench seating such former college stars as Ernie Beck, Jackie Moore, Larry Hennessey, Walt Davis, and George Dempsey.

Arizin, the former Villanova and Johnston, who quit Ohio State as a freshman to become a three-time N.B.A. scoring champion, were the big wheels on which the Warriors spun their web of victory. Arizin, himself a pro scoring king before two years in the service, scored 1,741 points, second best in the league. Johnston was third with 1,377 points and fifth in rebounds with 872.

These two stars were the difference between victory and defeat in the playoffs against Syracuse. Arizin, a sensational jump shot artist, averaged 30.2 points a game

Sports Making Fast Start

Frenchman Hamia Awarded Decision In Costa Contest

HATTIESBURG, Miss., March 30 (Special)—Manager Ed Head of the Evangeline League, Monroe, La. Sports figures he has never had it so good for this time of the year in his ten seasons as manager of professional baseball clubs.

"Here it is only the third day of spring training and everybody on our roster is in camp except one player," Head observed today as the Sports gathered for their third session at City Park here. "Usually the players come straggling in with first one excuse and then another for being late. Not so this year. They're coming in ahead of time."

Only pitchers and catchers were due in camp Wednesday, but Head had several infielders and outfielders on hand. The rest of the squad wasn't due to work until Saturday, but five more reported today and immediately went to work. The lone absentee, however, is a pitcher who was due in Wednesday. Pete Rogers, who had spring work here with the club last season.

Additions today were Don Pierce, second baseman fresh out of the army and the Louisiana war maneuvers; Ron Paul, a third baseman signed by Yankee scout Lou Maguolo fresh out of the University of Missouri; Huey Craig, a shortstop who hit .276 at McAlester, Okla., in 1955; Dick Lindsey, an outfielder who started the '55 season at Monroe as a third baseman; and Denny Wann, a young outfielder from Memphis.

Wann, an unknown to most fans of Monroe and West Monroe, won't report to the Sports' home park as a total stranger, however. He's a nephew of Monroe's assistant police chief, George Wood.

Manager Head worked his pitchers today on correct coverage of first base, fielding bunts, and working the free play at second and third. The Sports spent an hour and a half in hitting practice, got in a long round of infield drill, and tapered off with wind sprints before the skipper sent his talent to the showers.

"It was a fine day, a fine workout, and if the pattern continues we'll make a fine debut in the Evangeline League," Head said. His club won the pennant and championship playoff in the Cotton States League, since disbanded, last year, and is entering the peppy Evangeline for the first time this season.

Little Rock Faces Oklahoma City In Exhibition Today

Travelers Defeat Northeast Indians By 9 To 7 Margin

The Oklahoma City Indians of the Texas League came to Monroe today to open a two-game series with the Little Rock Travelers as Manager Steve Souchock's Southern Association club nears the end of its spring training stay at Legion Memorial Stadium.

The Travelers, after tapping the Northeast Louisiana State Indians, 9-7, in a seven-inning exhibition here yesterday, will greet the Oklahoma City outfit at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Legion Memorial Stadium, and follow with the same club again tomorrow in the last exhibition here for the Travs who break camp Monday and continue their exhibition series with Shreveport and Oklahoma City on the journey home.

Marlin Stuart is due to hurl for the Travs today, and Manager Souchock plans to shoot Joe Tully at the Indians tomorrow.

Russ Burns, veteran outfielder, pulled the Travelers out of the fire in their scrap with Northeast's collegians yesterday. He hit three singles in as many official times at bat to drive in four runs. He scored two.

Herb Flischer and Jim Bryant shared the Little Rock pitching with Coach George Luffey's Redskins tagging them for eleven hits, the same total compiled by the Travs off three Tribe chunkers, Tommy Leos, "Bo" Laird, and Huey Jinks.

The score was knotted at 7-7 when Burns singled behind Payne's double for Little Rock broke the deadlock. Andy Frazier's following double brought Burns in for insurance.

Northeast opened the game with three runs as Dennis Fields singled, Don Stewart doubled, and Leos walked to load the bases. Frazier muffed Bill Bradley's grounder, Fields scoring. Ike McMullen forced Stewart at the plate and Bob Robinson fouled out but Frank Scalia lashed a single into center field scoring Leos and Bradley.

The Travelers roared for five in their half of the first. John Paul Jones singled, Frazier passes to R. C. Otey and Payne loaded the sacks. Burns drove Jones and Otey across with a single, and Payne was thrown out, Leos to Harold Davis, as he tried to make it from first. Spider Wilhelm and Harry Minor walked, filling the bases again. Frazier forced Minor, scoring Burns. Luke Tucker's single tallied Wilhelm, and a single by Flischer counted Frazier but Tucker, trying to make it to third on the hit, was thrown out by Stewart.

Northeast tied it in the second. Stewart singled, Leos walked, and Bradley singled Stewart home, sending Leos to third. The throw on McMullen's fielder's choice was too late at the plate, Leos scoring.

Sports Making Fast Start

but the Travelers cleared the sack with a double play that caught McMullen and Bradley trying to steal. The Tribe grabbed the lead again in the fourth after singles by Stewart and Leos and a free pass to McMullen filled the bases. Robinson drove Stewart and Leos in with a single. It finished Northeast scoring.

The Travs grabbed one in the fourth when Burns singled Payne across after the latter had forced Otey, aboard on a walk, and advanced on a wild pitch. Little Rock tied in the fifth when Minor singled, advanced on a passed ball and a wild pitch, and scored when Tucker hit into a double play.

Rags-To-Riches Warriors Match Pistons In Finals

PHILADELPHIA, March 30 (AP)—Should the Philadelphia Warriors win the National Basketball Association championship by taking Fort Wayne in the seven-game title series starting here tomorrow, the victory would complete one of the finest team revivals in the annals of sports.

Only three years ago, the Warriors won 12 and lost 57, finishing 34½ games out of first place, an all-time low for professional basketball. The following year they were 15 games from the top and last season, although last, were 10 games behind the leading Syracuse Nats.

Eddie Gottlieb, who this year gave up the coaching reins to concentrate on his busy job as owner of the club, took a terrific beating financially. But this veteran of some 40 years in basketball hung on. He saw better days ahead for a young, talented team just beginning to bud.

This year the Warriors ripened. They won 45 games, more than any Warrior team in history, won the eastern division title in the N.B.A. by six games, and eliminated Syracuse in three games to two in the semi-final playoffs. As for Gottlieb, he never had it so good. The Warriors broke all box office records.

What changed this tail-end team to a division champion? Coach George Senesky, a star of the 1946-47 Warriors, the last Philadelphia pro-basketball champions, took over from Gottlieb as head coach. He put together a five of Paul Arizin, Neil Johnston, Jack George, Joe Graboski and Tom Gola, plus a talented bench seating such former college stars as Ernie Beck, Jackie Moore, Larry Hennessey, Walt Davis and George Dempsey.

Arizin, the former Villanova, and Johnston, who quit Ohio State as a freshman to become a three-time N.B.A. scoring champion, were the big wheels on which the Warriors spun their web of victory. Arizin, himself a pro scoring king before two years in the service, scored 1,741 points, second best in the league. Johnston was third with 1,347 points and fifth in rebounds with 872.

These two stars were the difference between victory and defeat in the playoffs against Syracuse. Arizin, a sensational jump shot artist, averaged 30.2 points a game

HATTIESBURG, Miss., March 30 (Special) — Manager Ed Head of the Evangeline League, Monroe, La. Sports figures he has never had it so good for this time of the year in his ten seasons as manager of professional baseball clubs.

"Here it is only the third day of spring training and everybody on our roster is in camp except one player," Head observed today as the Sports gathered for that third session at City Park here. "Usually the players come straggling in with first one excuse and then another for being late. Not so this year. They're coming in ahead of time."

Only pitchers and catchers were due in camp Wednesday, but Head had several infielders and outfielders on hand. The rest of the squad wasn't due to work until Saturday, but five more reported today and immediately went to work. The lone absentee, however, is a pitcher who was due in Wednesday. Pete Rogers, who had spring work here with the club last season.

Additions today were Don Pierce second baseman fresh out of the army and the Louisiana war mannequin; Ron Paul, a third baseman signed by Yankee scout Lou Mazullo fresh out of the University of Missouri; Huey Craig, a shortstop who hit 276 at McAlester, Okla., in 1955; Dick Lindsey, an outfielder who started the '55 season at Monroe as a third baseman; and Denny Wann, a young outfielder from Memphis.

Wann, an unknown to most fans of Monroe and West Monroe, won't report to the Sports' home park as a total stranger, however. He's a nephew of Monroe's assistant police chief, George Wood.

Manager Head worked his pitchers today on correct coverage of first base, fielding bunts, and working the force play at second and third. The Sports spent an hour and a half in batting practice, got in a long round of infield drill, and tapered off with wind sprints before the skipper sent his talent to the showers.

"It was a fine day, a fine workout, and if the pattern continues we'll make a fine debut in the Evangeline League," Head said. His club won the pennant and championship playoff in the Cotton States League, since disbanded, last year, and is entering the peppy Evangeline for the first time this season.

Fishing Takes Good At Lake Providence

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., March 30 (Special) — The fish are giving the anglers plenty of action in recent days in Lake Providence, with most sportsmen taking the limit in bream, and most running to large sizes.

A check at Greer's boat dock, a mile north of the town of Lake Providence, indicates about every body this week making good catches.

Samples: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pate Jr., Bastrop, took 86 bream Thursday on crickets and most running a pound and a half; Pete Nossie and party, Vicksburg, took out 160 with crickets; Charles Martin and companion Lake Providence, took 18 bass Thursday using flies on a spinning rod.

Rod Hundley set a two-year scoring record for West Virginia by making 1,500 points. Hundley is the first collegiate in basketball history to tally more than 1,500 points his last two seasons.

Frenchman Hamia Awarded Decision In Costa Contest

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—France's Cherif Hamia made a smashing pro debut in the United States tonight by scoring a split decision over Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn in a lively television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Costa weighed 130, Hamia 126½. A 2½ to 1 underdog, the baby-faced, 25-year-old Parisian forced the fight all the way, staggered the third - ranking featherweight contender three times, and gave a fine all-around performance.

Referee Al Berl and judge Joe Eppy each scored for Hamia, 5-4-1. Judge Jack Gordon's 5-4-1 vote for Costa, announced last, drew boos from the slim crowd of around 1,500. The Associated Press card had Hamia in front by a big margin, 7-3.

The victory stretched Hamia's unbeaten streak to 10 while the defeat snapped Costa's unbeaten string at seven.

Hamia, just as fast as the nimble Costa and a much harder hitter, rocked Costa in the second and third rounds and almost knocked him out in the eighth. Solid rights to the head hurt the 21-year-old Costa in the second and third and it was another right that wobbled him in the eighth.

Costa, who started to come on in the fifth round after a slow start, was doing well in the eighth when he took a powerful right to the jaw after delivering a stiff left hook of his own. Hamia's right had delayed effect. Suddenly Costa's legs started to buckle and his eyes glared. The crowd roared and Hamia swarmed in for the kill. He hammered Costa to the ropes and pummeled him with both hands in a frantic try for a knockout. The ball rang to save the troubled favorite.

Brenner Settles On His 1st Video Fight Programs

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—Teddy Brenner, new matchmaker at St. Nicholas Arena, got into action today by signing two main events for televised boxing shows April 9 and April 16.

Rory Calhoun, White Plains, N. Y., middleweight, and Jackie La Bua of Valley Stream, N. Y., were signed for the April 9 card. A week later featherweight Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio, will meet Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico. Both bouts are 10-rounders.

The last show at St. Nick's under the London Sporting Club and matchmaker Tex Sullivan, whose licenses were revoked by the New York state athletic commission, is scheduled for next Monday when Gaspar Ortega of Mexico will meet Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood of Brooklyn.

Rod Hundley set a two-year scoring record for West Virginia by making 1,500 points. Hundley is the first collegiate in basketball history to tally more than 1,500 points his last two seasons.

AAU Dampers Hits Cage Scrap, Five Stars Ruled Out

NEW YORK, March 30—UP—The national AAU Friday night threw a damper on Saturday night's East-West college All-Star basketball game by declaring five players ineligible for amateur competition because of their announced intention to turn professional.

The players were All-Americans Si Green of Duquesne and Darrell Floyd of Furman, Tom Heins of Holy Cross, Julius McCoy of Michigan State and Ron Soszyszczyk of DePaul.

They were ruled out as amateurs because they had announced their intention of making a professional tour with the Harlem Globetrotters, starting Sunday at Madison Square Garden. None had yet signed any contracts.

The game will be played, therefore, with eight players on each of the East and West teams. Bill Thibben, Holstra's record-breaking scorer, was added to the East team to round out the group of eight.

Joe Holup, of George Washington, originally a member of the Olympic squad, had previously been dropped when he had announced he was turning pro. He was replaced by John McCarthy, of Canisius.

The West squad, coached by Pete Newell, of California, will consist of Bill Russell and K. C. Jones, of San Francisco; Carl Cain, Utah; Paul Judson, Illinois; Willie M. Naulls, UCLA; Bill Reigel, McNeese State; Gary Bergen, Utah; and George Sellect, Stanford.

The East squad, coached by Tom Blackburn, of Dayton, consists of Hal Lear, Temple; Bob Burrow, Kentucky; Bill Uhl and Jim Paxson, Dayton; Chuck Rolles, Cornell; Vic Molodet, North Carolina State, McCarthy and Thibben.

BERNICE BOWLS 289
OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Bernice Price started with a spare, rolled ten strikes in a row and ended with nine for a 289 game. It was the highest game for a woman in Omaha in almost 20 years. She also scored 223 and 176 for a 688 series, highest this year for a Nebraska woman bowler. She previously rolled three other 600 series this season.

Rebels Take 9-8 Loss From Bears For First Loss

ALEXANDRIA, La., March 30 (Special) — Two runs in the last inning enabled the Bolton High Bears to snap the victory streak of the West Monroe Rebels at four straight here today, 9 to 8.

Four pitchers tolled through the game for the Rebels, allowing only three hits, but walking 13. Three Bolton pitchers gave up nine hits and walked nine.

The two clubs meet again at West Monroe on April 21. Today's loss was the first of the season for the Rebels.

Cards Get Hank Sauer In Trade With Rival Cubs

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 30 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, long in search of a right-handed power hitter, today sent Pete Whisenant and cash to the Chicago Cubs for veteran Hank Sauer.

Frank Lane, general manager of the Cardinals, announced the deal here. It was only the second trade Lane has made since he joined the Red Bird organization with the reputation as baseball's "Trader Horn."

The 37-year-old Sauer, who has been with the Cubs since 1950, saw little action last season and batted .211. He had his best season in 1954 with a .288 average and 41 home runs.

St. Louis plans to use Sauer primarily against left handed pitchers.

Whisenant, 27, came to the Cardinals last June from Toledo in a deal with Milwaukee when catcher Del Rice joined the Braves. He hit only .191 with St. Louis in 53 games.

The amount of cash involved in the deal was not disclosed.

Lane earlier traded pitcher Brooks Lawrence to Cincinnati for hurler Jackie Colium.

Tennis star Gussie Moran, famous for her lace panties at Wimbledon, is now a radio commentator on baseball.

Moon Beginning To Feel At Home On Initial Sack

By JACK HAND
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 30 (AP)—First base was a strange, uncharted land when Wally Moon moved in from the outfield to replace Stan Musial last summer. Now he's finally beginning to feel at home.

"Take a mitt and give it a whirl," said Harry Walker, then manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. After taking infield practice for five or six days, Moon found himself playing first in the late innings of a losing game with the New York Giants. Musial went back to the outfield and Moon finished the season (51 games) at first.

"I wasn't exactly tickled to death," Moon admitted. "But I was all for anything that might help the club. We were deep in the second division and I'm telling you, the second division hasn't got it."

"The worst thing was getting used to throwing underhand. In the underhand throw to second base, I had no idea where the ball was going."

Musial, who made the same switch a few years ago, nodded sympathetically.

"The thing that got me was whether to try to stretch for a throw or take my foot off the bag," Musial said. "It takes time to get used to it. Then you have to learn how the infielders throw. Sometimes a ball takes off when it hits. Other throws stay low."

"Red (Schoendienst) has been wonderful," said Moon. "He yells real quick when there's a ball hit between first and second. Sometimes I go for a ball and find I can't reach it, only to have Red come up with it and throw to the pitcher covering. That's the real saver for a first baseman."

"I staggered into a couple of real good plays right after I took over. That took some of the heat off me. Being new at the job, some of the hitters figured I'd have trouble coming in for the bunt. They didn't wait long to try me out but I was able to get them. My speed helped me, even when I was fooled."

Moon said he never played first base, even as a school kid. He fooled around at short and second in high school but he broke in pro ball as an outfielder and won "rookie of the year" honors in the national league in 1954 in that position.

"Whatever I did last year, I just learned myself," he said. "Making the change in the middle of a season when nobody has much time to teach, is extra tough. I went down to Puerto Rico this winter from Dec. 1 until the end of January and just tried to work it out my own way."

"Down here in spring training, Johnny Hopp (Cardinal coach who played some first base in the majors) has been awfully good to me. He taught me how to hold a man on and how to time my stretch."

Somebody mentioned that Moon already was represented in the Hall of Fame. He hit the last homer of the National League season in for a major league record of 1,263 home runs. The ball and bat went to the Cooperstown, N.Y. museum.

"Don't worry," said Moon. "They'll never put my first baseman's mitt there."

Littler Cools, But Holds One-Stroke Azalea Lead

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 30—UP—Crewcut Gene Littler's putter cooled but the young professional from Palm Springs, Calif., managed to hang onto a one-stroke lead as the wholesale assault on par continued at the halfway mark of the Azalea Open golf tournament Friday.

Littler shot a two-under par 70 over the 6,795 yard Cape Fear Country Club course to go with Thursday's 66 and keep him just in front of the red-hot field. He was six under par.

Threatening Littler from one stroke back were six players grouped at 137, five under par.

The first 21 players in the tournament were sub par at the halfway point.

Grouped at 136 were Walt Burkemo, Franklin, Mich.; George Bayer, Cincinnati, Ohio; Dave Douglas, Newark, Del.; Stan

Leonard, Lachute, Canada; Bud Holscher, Apple Valley, Calif., and Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa. John Serafin, West Pittstown, Pa., defending champion Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex.; Gardner Dickinson, Panama City, Fla.; Ernie Vossler, Fort Worth, Tex.; Dick Mayers, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa., were grouped at 139.

Littler put together identical rounds of 35 and 35 for his 70 Friday, but had trouble with his putter constantly.

"I was putting very bad," he said. "And I missed several putts from six and eight feet out that wouldn't go in. The putter is a great equalizer."

Has nifty 13th

Littler birdied the sixth with a 14-foot putt, the 15th with a 10-footer, and the 16th with a 15-footer putt. He barely missed an eagle on the 16. His only bad hole came on the 13th when he had a bad chip shot and had to take a bogey.

Stan Leonard barely missed tying the front-runner. His putt on the 18th stopped within inches of the cup and he had to settle for a par.

"I was playing just about as well as Thursday," he said, "but I three-putted two holes and took my first two bogeys of the tournament."

'Phog' Allen Through As KU Cage Coach

Age Catches Up With Tutor; Dick Harp Given Post

LAWRENCE, Kan., March 30 (AP)—The state board of regents blew the whistle on Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen today, making the end of the basketball coaching career at the University of Kansas the game's most successful mentor.

Phog Allen

Named to replace the 70-year-old Allen, headman of the Jayhawks for 36 years, was his top assistant since 1949, Richard (Dick) Harp, who was hired on a one-year basis at a salary of $7,500.

Harp, 38, was a star of Allen's 1940 NCAA tournament runners-up, and coached at William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo., before coming to KU as assistant to Phog.

Jerry Waugh, captain of Kansas' 1951 Jayhawks and present coach at Lawrence High School, was hired as assistant to Harp at a salary of $5,500 for one year.

Today's action, which became effective July 1, followed a recommendation of the school's athletic board that Allen's request for another season as coach past the mandatory 70-year retirement age be denied.

Allen was not immediately available for comment.

Allen, earlier this month, pleaded for one more year as a Kansas coach so that he could end his career with a "truly great team."

He expects the 1957 Kansas quint to be just that, mainly because it will be built around Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, 7-foot freshman from Philadelphia.

But the regents said no, explaining:

"This board has nothing but the highest regard for Dr. Allen and his desire to serve... However, the benefits resulting from the application of a retirement rule far outweigh its disadvantages and the board unanimously feels that it must be applied to all."

Allen compiled a won-lost record of 771-223 in 46 years of coaching that included stints at Baker University, Baldwin, Kan.; Haskell Indian Institute here and Central Missouri State, Warrenburg, before taking over at Kansas in 1920. The victory total is more than 100 games ahead of his nearest rival, Ed Diddle of Western Kentucky.

All told, Allen-coached teams won or tied for a total of 30 championships at the three schools. His 1952 Jayhawks, featuring huge Clyde Lovellette now of the pro Minneapolis Lakers, won the National Collegiate (NCAA) championship and furnished seven players to the U. S. Olympic team that was all victorious in the world games. Allen was assistant coach of the Olympic unit.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, March 30 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Marciano acknowledged today that he was considering retirement from the ring but said he would give himself six months to "think it over."

"It's a tough decision to make," the champion added, "and I won't make it here. There's no time limit. I've got six months or more. When and if I decide, the announcement will come from my manager, Al Weill."

In this way, Marciano sought to smother rumors that there was a rift between him and his longtime manager.

"We'll and I are still on good terms," said Marciano. "A lot of people would like to see us break up, but we are not about to do it."

Marciano said he talked by telephone with Weill shortly after the report was printed in New York that he planned to quit the ring because of family pressures.

Max Kase, sports editor of the New York Journal American, carried the report, quoting an unidentified friend of the champion in Boston. A similar newspaper report came out on Boston a week ago.

In New York, Weill, whose failure to accompany Marciano on his present South American exhibition tour stimulated the rift rumors, said he had talked to the fighter by telephone March 20 and that Marciano hadn't mentioned quitting at the time.

"I knew Rocky was thinking about retiring and I'd never stand in his way if that's what he wants. I'd never tell anybody to box if they don't want to or if they figure their career is finished."

Last Sept. 21 after Marciano had scored a ninth round knockout over lightweight champion, Archie Moore, the champion startled interviewers in the dressing room with the comment:

"There is a lot of pressure from my family for me to retire. My mother wants me to quit. So does my dad, and so does my wife. It has been a pretty bad ordeal for them. I don't know what I should do."

Later Marciano said he didn't plan to retire but wished to fight two more years.

Rocky's mother always had grieved that her stout young offspring turned to a career of violence. She never watches or listens by radio to any of his fights. Instead she goes to a nearby church to pray.

The father, a mild-mannered Italian immigrant now retired from his shoe factory job, earlier had encouraged Rocky's ring career. But lately he has felt his son has achieved enough.

Willie Jones Out Of Hospital, Can't Play For 10 Days

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Willie Jones, Philadelphia Phils' third baseman who was beamed Tuesday in an exhibition baseball game, was discharged from the hospital today.

However, he will return to the hospital for further checkups on his ear and will not be able to play for several days.

His doctor reported Willie is "feeling fine." However, he is to return to the hospital for further periodic checks on his left ear before he can play.

The physician explained the return visits to the hospital are to obtain "accurate studies of his hearing and equilibrium. I have advised him not to play for a week or 10 days."

Jones was hit by a fast ball thrown by Don Newcombe in the fifth inning of the Philadelphia-Brooklyn game. Newcombe said the pitch slipped off his fingers and the beaming was not intentional.

Braves Conclude Camp, Miss Only Pitcher Conley

BRADENTON, Fla., March 30 (AP)—After five solid weeks of spring training without missing a day, the Milwaukee Braves had a day off Friday and late in the afternoon broke camp and entrained for Atlanta and weekend games with their Cracker farm hands.

"We are in great shape with the exception of Gene Conley," Manager Charlie Grimm declared, "and could start the season next week. I am particularly happy about the way Bobby Thomson is meeting the ball. Danny O'Connell has been hitting good, too, and he is going to be our second baseman."

Marciano May Heed Wish Of His Family To Retire

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, March 30 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano acknowledged today that he was considering retirement from the ring but said he would give himself six months to "think it over."

"It's a tough decision to make," the champion added, "and I won't make it here. There's no time limit. I've got six months or more. When and if I decide, the announcement will come from my manager, Al Weill."

In this way, Marciano sought to smother rumors that there was a rift between him and his longtime manager.

"We'll and I are still on good terms," said Marciano. "A lot of people would like to see us break up, but we are not about to do it."

Marciano said he talked by telephone with Weill shortly after the report was printed in New York that he planned to quit the ring because of family pressures.

Max Kase, sports editor of the New York Journal American, carried the report, quoting an unidentified friend of the champion in Boston. A similar newspaper report came out on Boston a week ago.

In New York, Weill, whose failure to accompany Marciano on his present South American exhibition tour stimulated the rift rumors, said he had talked to the fighter by telephone March 20 and that Marciano hadn't mentioned quitting at the time.

"I knew Rocky was thinking about retiring and I'd never stand in his way if that's what he wants. I'd never tell anybody to box if they don't want to or if they figure their career is finished."

Last Sept. 21 after Marciano had scored a ninth round knockout over lightweight champion, Archie Moore, the champion started interviews in the dressing room with the comment:

"There is a lot of pressure from my family for me to retire. My mother wants me to quit. So does my dad, and so does my wife. It has been a pretty bad ordeal for them. I don't know what I should do."

Later Marciano said he didn't plan to retire but wished to fight two more years.

Rocky's mother always had grieved that her stout young offspring turned to a career of violence. She never watches or listens by radio to any of his fights. Instead she goes to a nearby church to pray.

The father, a mild-mannered Italian immigrant now retired from his shoe factory job, earlier had encouraged Rocky's ring career. But lately he has felt his son has achieved enough.

Rocky, a devoted husband and father of a four-year-old girl, repeatedly has expressed concern over neglect of his wife and family forced on him by rigid training routines.

Minors Get Six As Yanks Make 1st Player Cut

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30 (AP)—The New York Yankees made the first cuts in their 50-man squad today, lopping off six rookies, five pitchers and catchers John Blanchard. All were assigned to the minor league base at Haines City, Fla.

Blanchard and left-hander Jim O'Reilly were assigned to Birmingham of the Southern Association. Right-handers Jim Pignatello and Jim Coates were assigned to Richmond of the International League while southpaw George Maier and righty Jim Depalo were placed on the Denver roster. All but Maier were optioned by the parent club. Maier already was the property of the Denver club.

Coates were assigned to Richmond at his own request, rather than Denver, because his mother is critically ill in the Virginia capital. He flew there last night.

Willie Jones Out Of Hospital, Can't Play For 10 Days

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Willie Jones, Philadelphia Phils' third baseman who was beamed Tuesday in an exhibition baseball game, was discharged from the hospital today.

However, he will return to the hospital for further checkups on his ear and will not be able to play for several days.

His doctor reported Willie is "feeling fine." However, he is to return to the hospital for further periodic checks on his left ear before he can play.

The physician explained the return visits to the hospital are to obtain "accurate studies of his hearing and equilibrium. I have advised him not to play for a week or 10 days."

Jones was hit by a fast ball thrown by Don Newcombe in the fifth inning of the Philadelphia-Brooklyn game. Newcombe said the pitch slipped off his fingers and the beaming was not intentional.

Newcombe Pitch Was Intentional 'Beaner' - Jones

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Willie Jones of the Philadelphia Phillies charged Wednesday that Brooklyn pitcher Don Newcombe "deliberately" threw at him Tuesday when the third baseman was hit in the head by a pitched ball.

Jones, up and about though detained at Morton Plant Hospital for further x-ray study, told a baseball reporter (Frank Yetter of the Philadelphia Bulletin) "That big guy deliberately threw at me. He did it my first time up." Jones walked in the second after ducking two close pitchers.

In the fifth, Jones was hit behind the left ear. He crumpled at the plate, bleeding from the ear. Newcombe shouted at the time, "Look out Willie," but Jones couldn't get out of the way. The Brooklyn pitcher said he threw a fast ball that slipped out of his fingers.

Jones said Wednesday that in his first time at bat, "Newcombe threw closely. He didn't knock me down but threw close enough to make me move out. He does it all the time during the regular season."

Meanwhile, Dr. Raymond Lockwood, who is acting as Phillies' physician while the club is in training, issued this report on the infielder's condition:

"Jones' condition continues to improve and can be regarded as generally satisfactory. He has a perforated eardrum which may have been caused Tuesday or may be an old injury. He will continue at Morton Plant Hospital under observation."

Dr. Lockwood said further x-rays would be taken to determine the cause of bleeding from Jones' left ear, usually a sign of a fractured skull. The doctor said that no fracture is "conclusively demonstrated" and that x-rays are being taken to make sure everything is all right.

Looting Of Fight Plant Takes Show From Fistic Probe

LOS ANGELES, March 30—UP—A daring morning hold-up of the Olympic Auditorium, which netted robbers nearly $27,000 including gate receipts from the Jimmy Carter-Don Jordan fight, stole the spotlight Friday from the boxing investigation which has centered on the stadium's affairs.

An unknown number of strong-arm bandits slugged the Olympic's treasurer unconscious as he opened the safe at 9:20 a. m.

They escaped with the $20,924 receipts from Thursday night's bout, a 10-rounder won unanimously by Carter, some $5,000 in wrestling advance sales and $1,000 cash-on-hand, police reported.

Victim of a knockout blow to the jaw was Michael Lebell, 25, son of Aileen Eaton by a previous marriage. Mrs. Eaton is business manager of the Olympic and is the wife of Cal Eaton, Olympic promoter.

Eaton's son, Robert, is the son-in-law of Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, whose special committee has been investigating alleged scandals in boxing.

Lebell suffered a mild concussion and told police he never saw his assailants, who swooped down on him as he opened the safe, bound and gagged him and fled with bundles of $500 each.

Only Thursday night another oddity, a bomb hoax, plagued the Olympic at the height of the main event. Four squad cars of police, without disturbing the fans, quietly but fruitlessly searched the stadium for a bomb that an anonymous caller said was planted.

Police decided against evacuating the stadium, though the call was the fourth such of the night.

The probe committee, opening its 10th day of digging into reported fight "fixes" and purse-splitting by Olympic matchmaker Babe McCoy, was thrown into a temporary turmoil when the robbery report was brought into the hearing room by a newsman.

Mrs. Eaton dramatically pointed at committee prosecutor James Cox and shouted: "You and your... boxing hearings. Look what you did!"

Ben Hogan Will Represent U. S. In International

NEW YORK, March 30—UP—Ben Hogan, the hawk of the high-lands, is on his way back to big time golf.

This was assured when John Jay Hopkins, founder of the International Golf Association, announced that Hogan would spearhead the two-man team which will represent the United States in the Canada Cup matches at the Wentworth Club, Surrey, Eng., June 24-26.

The four-time U.S. Open champion announced last summer that he was through with big-time competitive golf. But after a six week practice session, he accepted the call on the eve of his departure for the Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga.

It made USGA officials hopeful that he would make an all-out bid for a record fifth Open title at the Oak Hill Country Club, Rochester, N.Y., June 14-16.

"It's good news and we certainly hope he will enter the Open, although up to now he hasn't given us the word," said Joe Dey, executive secretary of the USGA.

Hopkins, whose tournament will entertain the two top players from 28 countries -- including a bid to Russia -- expressed "utmost delight."

Hogan has been to England only twice. Hopkins chortled. "He was non-playing captain of the U.S. Ryder Cup team in 1949, after an almost fatal accident, and he went over to Carnoustie and set an all-time record of 282 in winning the British Open on his first try."

"The British have been clamoring for him to return and this will give them another chance to see one of the all-time golfing greats in action," Hopkins added.

Hogan, from Fort Worth, Tex., said that it was improbable that he would stay for the British Open because of previous commitments in the United States.

Japanese Roll Out Welcome Mat For Olympic Ski Hero

SHIGA KOGEN, Japan, March 30 (AP)—Olympic skiing star Chiharu (Chick) Igaya came home as a conquering hero today to the people of the high country where he learned to ski. Igaya, a Dartmouth College student, brought home Japan's first winter olympic medal -- a second place in the slalom.

Returning from Tokyo with his parents, the 24-year-old star was greeted by well-wishers with Japanese flags at each of the last few stations of a branch railroad into the mountains. At the end of the line, Udanaka, 2,000 people cheered and fireworks exploded.

With Olympic teammate Susumu Sugiyama, Igaya walked two-thirds of a mile to Yamanoouchi Junior High School flanked by solid lines of schoolboys with Japanese flags. They all tried to touch Igaya for good luck.

Later Chick and his parents went to their home in the 5,000-foot high village of Shiga Kogen. They were forced by snow and mud to walk the last mile.

Pittsburgh Bonus Pitcher Requests Rest For His Arm

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Bonus pitcher Paul Martin of the Pittsburgh Pirates has asked to be placed on the voluntary retired list and the club has forwarded the request to National League officials.

Catcher Harding Peterson also has requested he be placed on the voluntary retired list. He has been carried on the disabled list.

Solons Seeking To Make Player Deal With Yanks

ORLANDO, Fla., March 30—UP—Manager Charley Dresen tried Friday to complete the winter deal with the Yankees in which the Senators still are entitled to another player.

Dresen, conferring with Yankee officials, indicated he would prefer an outfielder. In the original transaction, pitcher Mickey McDermott went to the Yankees along with infielder Bobby Kline who was dispatched to the Yankee farm system. The Nats, in turn, received pitcher Bob Weather, infielder Herb Plews, catcher Lou Berberet, and outfielder Dick Teitelbach.

The Nats were off Friday in observance of Good Friday and Manager Chuck Dresen told the players to stay away from the park and rest.

The four-time U.S. Open champion announced last summer that he was through with big-time competitive golf. But after a six week practice session, he accepted the bid on the eve of his departure for the Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga.

It made USGA officials hopeful that he would make an all-out bid for a record fifth Open title at the Oak Hill Country Club, Rochester, N.Y., June 14-16.

"It's good news and we certainly hope he will enter the Open, although up to now he hasn't given us the word," said Joe DeY, executive secretary of the USGA.

Hopkins, whose tournament will entertain the two top players from 28 countries — including a bid to Russia — expressed "utmost delight."

Hogan has been to England only twice, Hopkins chortled. "He was non-playing captain of the U.S. Ryder Cup team in 1949, after an almost fatal accident, and he went over to Carnoustie and set an all-time record of 282 in winning the British Open on his first try."

"The British have been clamoring for him to return and this will give them another chance to see one of the all-time golfing greats in action," Hopkins added.

Hogan, from Fort Worth, Tex., said that it was improbable that he would stay for the British Open because of previous commitments in the United States.

Solons Seeking To Make Player Deal With Yanks

ORLANDO, Fla., March 30—UP—Manager Charley Dressen tried Friday to complete the winter deal with the Yankees in which the Senators still are entitled to another player.

Dressen, conferring with Yankee officials, indicated he would prefer an outfielder. In the original transaction, pitcher Mickey McDermott went to the Yankees along with infielder Bobby Kline who was dispatched to the Yankee farm system. The Nats, in turn, received pitcher Bob Wiesler, infielder Herb Plews, catcher Lou Berberet, and outfielder Dick Tietelbach.

The Nats were off Friday in observance of Good Friday and Manager Chuck Dressen told the players to stay away from the park and rest.

White Sox Take Big Slice From Ranks Of Rookies

TAMPA, Fla., March 30—UP—Three pitchers and an infielder went the way of most spring-time rookies Friday when they were cut from the White Sox roster and sent to farm clubs.

The pitchers were Bill Dufour, Paul Stuffer, ex-Phillies farm hand, and Russ Heman, all right handed. The infielder was Joe Kirrene, who has been up with the White Sox for several spring trials.

Six other youngsters, all pitchers, were sent to the White Sox' minor league training base at Hollywood, Fla., after getting a brief look at the main base here. They were Bobby Cain, Phil Brown, and Bobby Winkles, all on the Memphis roster, Bob Hattenbach and Tom Richards of Colorado Springs, and Glen Rosenbaum of Waterloo.

Looting Of Fight Plant Takes Show From Fistic Probe

LOS ANGELES, March 30—UP—A daring morning holdup of the Olympic Auditorium, which netted robbers nearly $27,000, including gate receipts from the Jimmy Carter-Don Jordan fight, stole the spotlight Friday from the boxing investigation which has centered on the stadium's affairs.

An unknown number of strong-arm bandits slugged the Olympic's treasurer unconscious as he opened the safe at 9:20 a. m.

They escaped with the $20,924 receipts from Thursday night's bout, a 10-rounder won unanimously by Carter, some $5,000 in wrestling advance sales and $1,000 cash-on-hand, police reported.

Victim of a knockout blow to the jaw was Michael Lebell, 25, son of Aileen Eaton by a previous marriage. Mrs. Eaton is business manager of the Olympic and is the wife of Cal Eaton, Olympic promoter.

Eaton's son, Robert, is the son-in-law of Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, whose special committee has been investigating alleged scandals in boxing.

Lebell suffered a mild concussion and told police he never saw his assailants, who swooped down on him as he opened the safe, bound and gagged him and fled with bundles of $500 each.

Only Thursday night another oddity, a bomb hoax, plagued the Olympic at the height of the main event. Four squad cars of police, without disturbing the fans, quietly but fruitlessly searched the stadium for a bomb that an anonymous caller said was planted.

Police decided against evacuating the stadium because the call was the fourth such of the night.

The probe committee, opening its 10th day of digging into reported fight "fixes" and purse-splitting by Olympic matchmaker Babe McCoy, was thrown into a temporary turmoil when the robbery report was brought into the hearing room by a newsman.

Mrs. Eaton dramatically pointed at committee prosecutor James Cox and shouted: "You and your — boxing hearings. Look what you did!"

Japanese Roll Out Welcome Mat For Olympic Ski Hero

SHIGA KOGEN, Japan, March 30 (AP)—Olympic skiing star Chikara (Chick) Igaya came home as a conquering hero today to the people of the high country where he learned to ski. Igaya, a Dartmouth College student, brought home Japan's first winter olympic medal — a second place in the slalom.

Returning from Tokyo with his parents, the 24-year-old star was greeted by well-wishers with Japanese flags at each of the last few stations of a branch railroad into the mountains. At the end of the line, Udanaka, 2,000 people cheered and fireworks exploded.

With Olympic teammate Susumu Sugiyama, Igaya walked two-thirds of a mile to Yammanouchi Junior High School flanked by solid lines of schoolboys with Japanese flags. They all tried to touch Igaya for good luck.

Later Chick and his parents went to their home in the 5,000-foot high village of Shiga Kogen. They were forced by snow and mud to walk the last mile.

Talbot Services Set For Monday Evening

TAMPA, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Funeral services for Gayle Talbot, Associated Press sports columnist who died here last night of a heart attack, were tentatively set today for Monday afternoon at the Fairchild Funeral Home in Manhattan, N. Y.

The widow, Mrs. Ruth Talbot, asked friends to omit flowers but instead to make contributions to the heart fund.

Mrs. Talbot, accompanying the body, will arrive at their Port Washington home Sunday afternoon.

Reservists Will Fire At Fort Polk

Major George L. Whitmeyer, unit advisor, USAR announced Friday that reservists assigned to units at the United States army reserve training center will undergo weekend training at Fort Polk, La., April 7 and 8.

Capt. Philip H. Kulcke and Capt. Eacy A. Craven of Monroe and 1st Lt. Charles D. Gillinghouse of Rayville, who are unit commanders will furnish reservists from their units to participate in this training.

All reservists will fire the Carbine Cal. 30 M-1 for record. This type training is designed primarily to relieve the reserve units from firing during their annual unit training so that they can devote the majority of their 15 days to technical and on the job training to increase the efficiency of their unit.
